65 SAN FRANCISCO SWITCHMEN ARE ARRESTED BY U. S.

'WET' PHALANX REPORTED READY FOR COMPROMISE; FEARFUL OF TEST VOTE

"Virginia Platform" on League of Nations Is Believed Agreed to as Endorsement Of Convention on Wilson Administration

DARK HORSE GOSSIP GROWING

By AD SCHUSTER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Pennsylvania "drys" won a smashing victory in the state convention caucus today, defeating efforts to instruct for a "wet" plank by a vote of 60 to 13.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—As if some unseen power had called it to sharp attention, this great gabbling and bewildered convention crowd has changed over night. In the lobbies there is the same sideshow, the same loud salutations and the same stereotyped expressions of confidence, but upstairs in the committee rooms, in those "headquarters" which are not designated by signs and of which the public has no knowledge, at the lunch tables, and in the corners of the little-frequented rooms the cold and calculating work is being done.

There are more men than ever in the marble alleys of the Palace and St Francis Delegates march forward and back in an all-day procession. Everywhere the salutation is, "What do you know?" and the answer is, "Not a thing." It is the high sign of the 1920 convention and is the absolute truth.

But the leaders who were here early and those others who have come in on the trains of the last forty-eight hours aren't in this crowd. Their emissaries circulate here and there, grab off Bill or Harry and lead him to the elevator and when he retnus there is one more man no longer quite so bewildered.

OLD-TIME BOSSES BUSY IN BACK ROOMS

Charles Murphy, Norman Mack, Tom Taggart, Edmund Moore, Geo. Brennan, men of that kind, are too busy for the glad-hand throng, and upon the work in which they are engaged may depend the nomination.

How willing is this convention to listen to the word from Washington? What is being done in the wet and dry fight?

To answer the second question it may be repeated that this is not going to be a wet convention. When men like Senator Julian of Ohio, a Cincinnatan and a wet by every natural cause, declares that the liquor question is "water that has passed over the dam," and may be said to speak for the Cox campaigners, it means that a large group of wet plankers are willing that no plank at all shall be inserted. It also reflects the desire of the Cox supporters to remove the wet sign that has been tacked to them and their realization that a wet candidate cannot win. Even Tom Taggart would rather see no plank on the question, and there are prominent leaders from every State who are holding the same view.

The views of these men will not mean that the fight will not be waged on the convention floor. Norman Mack of New York, with a strong backing in New Jersey and Indiana, has guaranteed that a minority report will be brought in if the resolutions committee kills their issue. In the Edwards headquarters today it is said that a plank containing the ideas of New Jersey's governor will be submitted. E. H. Skipes and F. W. Bockstege of Indiana are the latest delegates to espouse the wet cause. Forty leading members of the California Anti-Saloon League will be here Monday to fight them.

On the league of nations issue the administration idea will doubtless be followed and declarations similar to those in the Virginia platform be adopted. It would seem that, if the administration does not try to dictate the candidate, there is small chance of its not having everything as desired. David I. Walsh of Massachusetts does not hold this view, and is here to fight the Wilson league plan. "The party faces defeat if one of its planks is the administration's idea on the league of nations," he declared when he reached San Francisco, and he has been fighting with his sleeves rolled up every since. In more guarded phrases, but to the same effect, Senator J. Ham Lewis of Illinois expresses the same view. "It would be disastrous for the administration to try to dictate to this convention, and I do not believe that any such attempt will be made."

WILSON CAN BOSS THINGS, IF TACTFUL

In spite of this outspoken sentiment and the fact that there is a considerable group of men who are anti-Wilson at the convention, the President, unless he becomes too arbitrary will have the controlling word. The fact that his is a figure of waning popularity; that he has served two terms and is regarded as having weakened in appeal will mean that he will not dare, without risking defeat, to apply an iron rod. His hand is being played with political skill and his methods, it would seem, will force the convention to his way on his most beloved planks, or will place the party in an embarrasing position of having repudiated the man upon whose record it will have to stand. With the arrival of aBinbridge Colby, Wilson has another stalwart supporter in the field.

The daily McAdoo flurry was oc-

Bryan Declares Battle to Knife On 'Wet' Plans

Nebraskan Says There Can Be No Compromise On Dry Issue

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—The battle is on. Today, with nearly all the principal adversaries face to face for the first time in the convention city the real fight for control of the party began—the clan of President Wilson on one side, the clan of William Jennings Bryan on the other.

Both sides admit that the choice of a Democratic nominee for President depends very largely on the platform, so the terrific, but invisible, struggle which reached full swing here today centered about the shaping of that document. Chief of the points in dispute, of course, is the treaty, the "wet" and "dry" running it a close second.

Declaring in effect that he has not entered into any "intangling alliances" with candidates for the presidency and characterizing as a "crime against the nation" the attempts of wet delegates to amend the Volstead act, William Jennings Bryan, who arrived at Oakland pier last night to be greeted by a big crowd of admirers, this morning bright and early got down to business at his headquarters on the second floor of the St. Francis hotel.

NO WET COMPROMISE IS BRYAN SLOGAN

Aside from his attitude toward the administration candidate, the feeling of the commoner on the liquor question will have the most important effect on the "wet" program.

Bryan refused to deny the rumor that he would be satisfied if the prohibition question is left as it is. Elected from Nebraska, with 11 of the 16 delegates, on a platform definitely for prohibition, Bryan indicated that he would not compromise the issue.

"I have not made arrangements for a consultation with Senator Owen or with any other candidate," declared Bryan, "although I will undoubtedly meet many of them. I am not pledged at this moment to support any man.

PROHIBITION CANNOT BE DODGED, HE DECLARES

"The prohibition issue cannot be dodged," continued the commoner.

By far the largest and most enthusiastic crowd that has yet greeted a Democratic solon met Bryan when his train came in, many hours late. People rushed forward to grasp his hand.

A young lady rushed up and shaking Mr. Bryan's hand said:

"I have waited twenty years to shake hands with you, Mr. Bryan."

"I should not have said more than eighteen years," returned Bryan, gallantly.

Bryan forgot politics long enough to remark as he stood on the ferryboat and looked out across the magnificent stretch of bay at the islands and at San Francisco in the distance:

"I have been to San Francisco twenty-five times and every time I have to invent a new adjective to describe the wonder and glory of it. We are much favored climatically compared with the Republicans in Chicago."

NEBRASKAN EXPLAINS SITUATION IN HIS STATE

Bryan explained briefly the situation in Nebraska, a situation which crystalized his attitude on the prohibition question. He said:

"I was elected on an out-and-out dry platform. Of the sixteen delegates from Nebraska eleven were won by my supporters running on a dry plank, while but five were elected by the Hitchcock crowd. Thus you see that while our delegation is divided, by far the most powerful element and the largest number of votes are represented by the 'bone-dry' sentiment."

500 COX BOOSTERS BEGIN WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN TO GAIN VOTES FOR OHIOAN

Missouri and Georgia Contests to Reveal Strength of Wilson Forces and Will Test Palmer's Claims to Southern Delegates

755 DELEGATES NOT PLEDGED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Secretary of Agriculture E. T. Meredith issued a statement today in which de declared he is "not in any sense a candidate" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—The Cox boom today struck this town like a small tornado. Half a thousand Cox boosters arrived from Ohio in white trousers, dark coats and straw hats and rang the welkin along Market street and through the Palace Hotel as loud as ever the welkin could ring.

That was the big noise of the day, but there were a lot of little side noises along with it, and a lot of whispers as well that could hardly be called noises at all. Of the former was the declaration, once more reiterated from the McAdoo supporters, that they would refuse to abide by his expressed withdrawal. Another was the assault of the national committee upon the Georgia contest problem.

The women of the party were victorious today in their first clash with the national committee. The question arose in the national committee in the Smith-Watson contest as to whether this contest should be referred for settlement to the committee as a whole or a sub-committee. Vice-President Bruce Cramer was for referring to a sub-committee. Edmond Moore sought for a settlement by the committee as a whole. In the midst of the discussion Miss Elizabeth Marbury, delegate-at-large from New York, declared she thought the women had the right to hear the entire discussion regarding this contest and that it was not an affair to be given to a sub committee. Her view prevailed and the affair was taken up today before the national committee as a whole.

Still another was the opening in earnest of the bone-dry campaign with the arrival from Los Angeles of Charles J. Hall who claimed he represented 120,000 voters of thereabouts and that he spoke with authority for the National Prohibition party. To idicate the seriousness of this intent even further he proceeded at once on the trail of William Jennings Bryan for a conference.

SAN FRANCISCO IS THRONGED WITH VISITORS.

The crowds in the hotel lobbies today are so thick it is almost impossible for a person to fight his way into and out of them. In addition to the convention crowd, the situation was complicated by the arrival of hundreds of Shriners and their party from Portland. Hatbands bearing the legend, "Mac'll do" blossomed forth suddenly in every corner today. The wearers vociferated the former cabinet man's qualifications in and out of season.

Two special trains bearing 400 Ohio delegates and Cox boomers arrived early and marched up the main thoroughfares to the blare of two bands. A Cox marching club gaily costumed in red, white and blue, and a glee club made it known to San Francisco that Ohio is here and beside Governor Cox several hundred strong.

COX BOOMERS IN EVIDENCE AND NOISY.

"We are here to put Cox across and there isn't a doubt but that we will do it, said Senator Atlee Pomerene, who led the parade of Cox's army.

A contest has arisen in the Ohio delegation over its representative on the resolutions committee. Senator Pomerene and T. J. Duffy of East Liverpool are both being boosted for the place. Indications were, however, that Senator Pomerene would be selected for the resolutions committee.

Silence on prohibition in the platform is believed to be the best policy by the majority of the Ohio delegation.

SAYS McADOO'S NAME WILL BE PRESENTED.

"McAdoo's name will be presented as are the other candidates," said Samuel B. Amidon, Kansas, who by common counsel has assumed leadership of the McAdoo forces here today.

This decision was reached at a conference lasting until early today, attended by all the leading McAdoo boosters here. Amidon was selected to direct efforts in McAdoo's behalf, at least until the convention meets. Selection of a floor general may be made later.

Amidon said today there would be no formal statement but that McAdoo's friends, confident that he can poll from "30,000 to 50,000 more votes in almost every state than any other candidate," are going ahead to get him nominated.

Amidon said there would not be any fireworks or noise about the McAdoo campaign.

"We won't do any boosting," he said. "The candidacy doesn't require it."

The national committee swung into action today on two delicate contests, involving twenty-nine convention seats.

In each instance it is a clear-cut fight between the pro-Wilson and

Delegates Are Eastbay Guests At Big Luncheon

Over 1000 Enjoy Repast at Elaborate Function at Hotel Oakland.

Democracy paused in its mad rush of preparations for the convention today to pay its respects to Oakland. Under the auspices of the Women's Democratic Club of Alameda County more than a thousand persons, taxing to capacity the dining rooms of the Hotel Oakland, gathered at luncheon in the early afternoon.

Candidates and committeemen, delegates and alternates, officials of various sorts were among the guests. Particularly were the women in evidence, for it was chiefly, after all, a women's affair. Members of a dozen women's organizations tributary to the Democratic party and to the convention helped to grace the luncheon.

The seating arrangement was unusual. At each table presided an Oakland woman who hailed from the state whose delegates were seated there. The dining hall was profusely garnished with California flowers and fruits. Each state table was decked with that state's own flowers, abundantly furnished from Eastbay gardens.

MRS. HOYT PRESIDES AT BIG LUNCHEON.

Assisting Mrs. Carrie L. Hoyt, president of the Women's Alameda County Democratic Club and who presided at the dinner, were both Democratic and Republican women who worked together to make the affair a big success.

A feature of the luncheon was that it was served by War Camp Community Service girls who later distributed bunches of California flowers to the delegates.

Chief among the speakers were William Jennings Bryan, A. Mitchell Palmer, Senator Robert L. Owen, Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall, Carter Glass, Mrs. George Bass of Chicago, chairman of the Women's Bureau of the Democratic party; Miss Mary Foy of Pasadena, member of the Democratic National Committee; Governor Mitchell of New York, H. C. Cummings and Bruce Kramer and the following women members of the executive committee of the Democratic National Convention, were scheduled to speak: Mrs. Pattie Ruffner Jacobs, Alabama; Mrs. Elizabeth Marbury, New York; Mrs. Kellogg Fairbanks, Illinois; Mrs Helen Grenfall, Colorado; Mrs Overton G. Ellis, Washington; and Mrs. Caroline Ruutz-Rees, Connecticut. Associate committeewomen are Mrs. Peter Oleson, Minnesota; Mrs. Percy Pennybacker, Texas, and Mrs. Anna B. Lawther, Iowa.

MAIDS AND MATRONS ASSIST IN SERVICE.

The committee in charge of the arrangements included Mrs. Carrie L. Hoyt, chairman of arrangements; Miss Mollie Conners, chairman of the reception committee and ushers, Mrs. Porter Mickel, chairman of table arrangements; Mrs. W. H. Kelley, chairman of reservations, assisted by Mrs. A. B. Glasier and Mrs. Walter Pond of Berkeley; Mrs. Edward Jones, chairman of decorations, and Mrs. Frances Smith, souvenirs.

The group of maids and younger matrons who assisted as ushers in helping the visitors to their places were: Mrs. Dalliva Thomson, chairman, Mrs. Robert Huntington, Mrs. Frank Roller, Mrs. Preston Higgins and the Misses Doris Bornemann, Claire Bon, Frances Redman, Allene Edoff, Nell Brougher, Allison Stone and Constance Dunn.

Passenger 'Plane With Eight Hits Tree and Falls

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Four persons narrowly escaped death when the eight-passenger airplane Avion struck a palm tree and turned over as it started for San Francisco shortly before noon today.

Bernhard Fransen, 24, assistant pilot of Stockton, was the most seriously injured. He was cut and bruised and sustained a broken toe.

B. B. Swartz, 601 Williamson building, Cleveland, Ohio, a passenger, was cut and bruised. He was en route to San Francisco as a delegate to the convention.

Robert Friend, Kentucky, also a delegate to the convention, was not injured.

Chief Pilot Charles F. Pond of Stockton also escaped injury.

Pond said engine trouble developed soon after the plane left the ground. Before the power could be shut off the machine struck the tree and turned over as it dived headfirst to the ground. All of the passengers were thrown out.

S. F. Man Jailed On Girl's Charge Of Park Attack

X-Ray Expert Seriously Injures Stenographer With Mallet Blows.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Claiming he was overcome with a desire to kill because of business worries, Herbert H. Sichel X-ray expert living at 11 Euclid avenue and well known in the medical profession here, has confessed, according to the police, that he beat Miss Emily Wallerstein 22, stenographer, over the head with a mallet and attempted to chloroform her while she was riding with him in Golden Gate Park late last night. Sichel [illegible] is in the hospital seriously injured. According to testimony related by Miss Wallerstein after she had regained consciousness at the hospital, she and Sichel started for a ride in Golden Gate Park. He stopped the car and said he wanted to get a handkerchief in the rear seat. Suddenly she smelled the odor of chloroform and Sichel commenced to rain blows upon her head. Continuing she said:

POLICE FIND MALLET USED IN ATTACK

I was fast losing consciousness when he stopped beating me. I asked him to take me to a hospital. While driving there he asked me to tell the hospital attaches that I had been struck by an automobile."

After Miss Wallenstein had related the story of the attack, the police searched the car and found a bloody mallet, a loaded revolver and bottles containing ether and chloroform. Sichel was then arrested on charges of assault with intent to murder and carrying concealed weapons.

Miss Wallenstein says she has known Sichel for six years and has frequently gone out with him and that always before he had been an ideal companion.

ACCUSED MAN SAYS HIS MIND IS BLANK

In the city prison this morning, Sichel, who appeared almost unstrung, said:

"It is terrible. I do not know how it happened. The only reason I can give is that my nerves gave way. I did not know what I was doing. The attack I am accused of having made did not occur in a dark part of the park, as has been said. I remember distinctly of halting my auto in a well-lighted thoroughfare, when I wished to get a handkerchief from the rear of the car.

"The next thing I remember was driving toward the Park Emergency hospital with Miss Wallerstein beside me badly bruised. I did have drugs and chemicals in my car, but there is nothing strange about this fact, because they are used in my profession. I have known Miss Wallerstein many years and regard her highly."

The case against Sichel was continued until next Friday in police court. He was released on bail amounting to $1100, $1000 on the assault charge and $100 for having the drugs in his possession.

WARRANTS SERVED AS 300 MEET

Bay Yardmen Surprised, But Vote to Stand by Strike; Nine in Court Deny Guilt; Are Freed on Recognizance

National Rail Wages Award Set for July 20; Ends the Danger of General Walkout Belief; Brotherhoods Warn

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Sixty-five members of the San Francisco Yardmen's Association, affiliated with the Chicago organization, today are facing trial in the United States District Court following the service last night of warrants for their arrest for their participation in the walkout last April during which freight transportation in California was seriously hampered.

Nine of the sixty-five appeared before United States District Judge Maurice T. Dooling this morning and entered pleas of not guilty. Bail was fixed at $1000 for officials and $500 for members of the union but after R. A. McClintock spokesman explained he and the men were unable to furnish bail Judge Dooling released them on their own recognizance. Preliminary hearings are set for next Saturday.

The men specifically are charged with violating the Lever food control act. They are members of the "insurgent" railroad workers' organization throughout America which went on a strike unauthorized by the old brotherhood officers. The warrants were served by a deputy United States marshal at a mass meeting being held at 177 Capp street.

Despite the service of the warrants, approximately 300 "insurgents present were undismayed, though admittedly surprised. They voted not to return to work until the Railway Labor Board [illegible] immediate action.

In addition to fifteen John Does on the warrants those summoned to appear include J. D. Murray, president, R. O. Scott, secretary, James Haley, formerly yard master of the Western railroad, R. G. Greenley of the yardmen's executive committee, and others whose names have not been made public.

WAGE AWARD JULY 20 MEANS PEACE, CHIEFS SAY.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Railroad workers have been called upon by their chiefs to remain at work pending the wage award by the United States railway labor board July 20. Judge R. M. Barton, chairman of the board, announced late yesterday that the award which would be made on or before that date would be retroactive to May 1.

The brotherhood statement, which was signed by H. P. Dougherty, of the engineers; Timothy Shea of the firemen and enginemen; L. E. Sheppard, of the conductors; W. G. Lee, of the trainmen, and E. E. Heberling of the switchmen, said:

"Now that it has been definitely decided when the ward will be handed down we urge our members to continue to carry out their obligation to the organization and the contract relations with their employers as the most effective means of helping the situation."

The announcement was made after the chiefs conferred with the board. The board gave no intimation of what the award would be.

It was presistently rumored today, however, that the award would grant the railway employees a wage boost of approximately 22 per cent.

Lee said secret plans had been made by a disaffected union element to spread a strike throughout the country because of the continued delay in the wage ruling.

The case of rebel leaders charged with conspiracy under the Lever act was up before a United States commissioner here today. The defense of John Grunau was that the "outlaws" quit work "individually" and that since they have "have been on a vacation."

WHITE HOUSE THINKS STRIKE IS AVERTED.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON June 26.—The administration feels the assurance of the railroad labor board that a decision on wage demands will be made on or before July 20 has cleared up the strike situation and no further action is needed on its part it was announced at the White House today.

W. G. Lee president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, today wired officials of the union here to warn the men that "illegal action now will surely injure our cause."

The telegram announces that the general chairmen of the railroad unions will be called to Chicago July 19 to pass on whatever award is made.

"SHOWDOWN ON ALL ISSUES," IS CRY OF TAMMANY

LEADER NIXON TELLS WISHES OF BIG DELEGATION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Evasion of great national issues denounced by Commissioner Lewis Nixon of the New York delegation, who today declared that ninety New Yorkers were in favor of placing the Democratic convention definitely on record as for or against every question of magnitude which is now before the American people.

Nixon, who is now commissioner of public works of the Borough of Richmond, succeeded Richard Croker as a leader of Tammany Hall in 1902, and since that time has been chairman of the State Democratic convention, chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic Congressional campaign committee in the 1902 campaign and a representative appointed by Roosevelt and Taft on different occasions on foreign missions. He is a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and owner of a number of shipyards.

PEACE DECLARATION URGED

Immediate declaration of peace and resumption of trade with Germany and every other belligerent in the great war, modification of the Volstead act; lifting of immigration restrictions to bring in thousands of men needed as laborers (not to apply to Orientals); abolition of the excess profit tax in favor of a scientifically placed tax; "hands off" in Mexico; abolition of profiteering without government price fixing; the adoption of a plank favoring the self-determination of peoples, but not particularly specifying the Irish, and greater tolerance toward labor, are some of the measures proposed by Commissioner Nixon, who says that the New York delegation favors them in the main.

NO COMPULSORY ARBITRATION

As to compulsory arbitration, Commissioner Nixon said:

"I have been an employer of labor for thirty-five years, and I have seen the time when nothing would clear the atmosphere except a strike; when nothing would satisfy the workers' desire for self-assertion except a conflict with capital, and, therefore, I do not believe that compulsory arbitration is either possible or desirable. It is unconstitutional to try to 'make men work.'

"Our need for labor is acute. The improper educational and other restrictions which now prevent thousands of good workmen from reaching this country should be lifted. I do not mean the Jap or the Chinese. They come under a different category.

VOLSTEAD LAW CRITICISED

"At the present time the Volstead act is nothing more or less than class legislation. It permits the wealthy people who can afford great cellars to have their liquor, while the poor man cannot. It should be modified.

"The excess profit tax is a haphazard tax plan, which should be replaced by a business-like and scientific tax, taking the burden off the progressive business man.

"The league of nations, modified or unmodified, should be adopted and peace should be declared. We want trade relations resumed with Germany and every other nation in order to re-establish a balance in the financial world.

"HANDS OFF" IN MEXICO

"I am thoroughly in accord with the President in desiring that the Mexicans should be left to work out their own problems alone.

"I do not see why we should declare for Irish independence any more than for the independence of any other nation. I think a plank in the platform putting ourselves on record in favor of the 'self-determination' of all peoples would meet requirements."

The ninety New Yorkers, with Governor Albert E. Smith as chairman, are holding a caucus this afternoon at the Bellevue hotel to determine their future action on the big problems and a presidential candidate. The delegates are pledged to Governor Smith, but expect to shift to Cox after the first ballot.

NO SOUND OF "MASTER'S" VOICE BABBLE OF OPINION IS CONFUSED McADOO FAILS TO ELIMINATE SELF

By MARLEN E. PEW
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—On the eve of the national Democratic committee painstaking survey of the arrived delegates, numbering more than half of the men and women who will sit in the Auditorium reveals the unmistakable fact that William Gibbs McAdoo has failed signally to eliminate himself from this race and that, on the basis of "drafting," without respect to his personal desires, he is the preferred ultimate choice of the majority of delegates here.

That is the outstanding feature of today's convention news, but it is hedged about by many curious circumstances which tend to qualify it, and to create a state of remarkable uncertainty which makes prophesy uncertainty which makes prophecy absur.

NO ONE CANDIDATE YET HAS LEAD

No one man knows what action the convention will take regarding candidates. There is no audible sound of a master voice. The babble of opinion in the hotel corridors is genuinely confused. There are other candidates to be sure, but is is remarkable that one hears more reasons against their selection than for them, and gossip concerning some of them is unpleasant to the polite ear, family skeletons not being neglected, among other things.

If balloting were to start today, with favorite sons' compliments paid off, there would be slim chance of anything like an approach to a choice on the basis of a majority vote, much less a two-thirds predominance which is necessary for selection in a Democratic convention, according to the result of a canvass of delegates made by the International News Service.

MANY DELEGATES HAVE FAVORITE SON BOOM

Delegates when approached are found glowing with local pride and state choice enthusiasm, but when the interviewer gets down to practical politics the interviewer suddenly finds himself subject of an interview and the question is:

"What do you hear of McAdoo? He'll come through if we draft him, won't he? He is sincere, but no man can decline a presidential nomination," and similar talk.

Very intimate friends of the lanky war secretary of the treasury reporting here tell in circumstantial detail of his disposition to shrink from the presidential spot light and denounce as "mean politics" the story that his declination statement was a subterfuge intended to kill off "crown prince" slurs and make him not only the choice but the demand of this convention. These gentlemen tell us that McAdoo's reasons as specified by him are actual and that he is no more sincere in his disinclination to re-enter public life than is his wife, the former Eleanor Wilson, for whom the White House possesses no allurements and whose desire is for obscured contentment with her husband and their two babies.

EVEN CARTER GLASS IS McADOO BOOSTER

But the gathering vanguard, headed by such men as Senator Carter Glass, are not only discounting McAdoo's public statements, but are actually openly booming his candidacy and the medicine is "taking nicely" according to all surface evidences Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer's forces are the most active boomers here Palmer is surrounded. He sweeps through the corridors of the Palace Hotel, shaking hands with all comers and may be the baby parade, with inevitable osculatory consequences will commence to form within a day or two. Considering the tremendous volume of advertising the Palmer boom has enjoyed old time reporters seem to feel that it is not good for much strength after early ballots.

COX AND EDWARDS TOG ALONG QUIETLY

The governors, Cox and Edwards, enterprises similarly appear to lack "pep," though the former is much discussed. "Ohio will nominate Cox," said former Governor James E Campbell, chairman of the Buckeye delegation. "We shall stand by the President and the league, but we are ready to accept constructive reservations We will leave prohibition alone."

There is a little Gerard talk. James Mee, national committeeman from South Dakota, declares his delegation is pledged for the former ambassador and must carry his name through three ballots at least

The genial, humorous vice-president, Thomas R Marshall, who delights to talk of Thomas Jefferson and a return to old-fashioned Democracy, is the center of a boom all his own and quite spontaneous in its nature He does not attempt to conceal his pleasure. Who knows? In the deep dark hours of some night next week or in the week thereafter with all of those delegates homesick and broke and still searching for votes to swell a two-thirds majority and break a deadlock, the name of Marshall of Indiana may be the big flash over the wires. The folks back home may not have thought of him in that wise, but it is not at all out of the possible plays

WHAT ABOUT DAVIS? WELL, HE'S IN DARK YET

And then there's Davis, the ambassador to St. James' court. One hears of him here as a dark horse who would find favor in high international circles At present the possibility seems remote.

New York's tower of strength will go for Governor "Al" Smith of that well-known state and Tammay is busy as can be with his boom, just as if it were not the just due of an honored son. Tammany, by the way, will support a "wet" platform if one is reported; delegates are talking about a "referendum on the Volstead act." Just which way the tiger will jump on second choice is not vouchsafed by experienced delegates from New York

It is declared that 74 of Pennsylvania's 76 delegates are pledged to Palmer. Palmer says so himself.

SOUTH IS STRONG FOR FORMER TREASURER

The south appears strong for McAdoo. Delegates from Tennessee, North Carolina, Alabama and Mississippi say unqualifiedly that they are here for the former secretary and no one else. Alabama's uninstructed force polled 12, for McAdoo, three Cox, two Palmer and seven undecided. They all said they would back up the President. Cox was declared Tennessee's second choice. North Carolina's compliment goes to Senator F. M. Simmons.

"McAdo sentiment is strong in our state," said Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

Delaware will not vote as a unit and almost every delegate has his own man, according to former Senator Willard Saulsbury.

Iowa's first ballot of 26 votes goes to Secretary of Agriculture Meredith who is not without his friends here. If he fails to show strength the state's vote will be divided among McAdoo, Cox and Palmer.

MONTANA TO VOTE FIRST FOR SAM STEWART

Montana's eight votes go to Governor Sam Stewart on the first ballot and then McAdoo gets them "right through."

Nebraska is undecided, and the first ballot may show it split four or five ways.

West Virginia is, of course, solidly for Ambassador Davis.

Kentucky is instructed for Cox. Nevada delegates say they're for him.

Texas has a unit rule and is claimed for McAdoo, but to switch to Cox if McAdoo fails.

Virginia is for Senator Carter Glass, but he is for McAdoo.

"Kansas is for McAdoo," said National Committeeman Samuel B. Amidon. "It is uninstructed but means business in that direction. We also have Palmer and Cox in view and Champ Clark is not out of our monds or hearts. We want our former governor, George H. Hodges, for vice-president. We are for the President and will vote dry."

NUTMEG STATE WOULD VOTE FOR CUMMINGS

Connecticut will case her ballots for Homer Cummings for president, according to Thomas J. Spellacy, and the delegation wants a light wines and beer plank, he says

Illinois will give a considerable part of its vote to McAdoo, according to Carter Harrison of that state. There will be scattering support of Cox and Palmer, a wet plank will be urged and the League of Nations will be opposed, according to the same authority.

Burris Jenkins of Kansas City says a majority of Missouri men will vote for McAdoo and the delegation is also split on a wet plank, but will "probably support the League of Nations plan."

Porto Rico likes Carter Glass; Alaska wants McAdoo; Hawaii will give Cox 3 and Palmer 3 on the first ballot.

And still they come—delegations pouring in on every train today.

Yet no one knows the name and address of the great man of the Democracy. It's a good-natured convention.

CALIFORNIA SUNSHINE KEEPS EVERYBODY SMILING

California sunshine and the wealth of fruit and flowers are tickling the delegates and the city is in the attitude of open-armed hospitality. A great flock of women and children accompany the men and politically-minded women are in great numbers, very spirited and urgent with their demands for full recognition. They are even springing planks on their brothers and insisting upon them Woman is playing an important role here. But you can't get one to say there should be a woman vice-president. "Too early to talk of such things," they say, meaning that they want half a loaf now but they insist on that, and it will take the form of planks. By the way, women politicians appear to take to political scandal talk like ducks. They are estimating the pots and spots of the avowed gentlemen without mincing words. And also they have much to say about "party principles" and "good government."

The California delegation, according to present plans, will play the tactful host on the first ballot by giving each of the names presented to the convention some of its votes. After the first ballot the delegation is unpledged and uninstructed and is "friendly" to both McAdoo and Cox.

Bryan Throws Down Gage of Battle to 'Wet' Champions

J. Bryan, who is chairman of the Nebraska delegation, indicated that this was the reason why Bryan had to stand for prohibition without compromise.

Later W. J Bryan issued the following statement:

"At the present writing," he said, "the interest centers in the platform rather than in the candidate, every one recognizing that the availability of the candidates will be materially affected by the platform announcements. The 'wets' recognize that they cannot possibly secure a majority of the resolutions committee or a majority of the delegates, and the disposition is not to risk the effect of an adverse vote. They are now discussing 'dry' planks for use if they fail in their effort to keep the subject out of the platform But the subject cannot be kept out of the platform—unless it is done by a yea and nay vote in the convention and and a rollcall will be much more disastrous to the 'wets' than a viva voce vote"

Bryan delivered an address this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Scottish Rite hall in San Francisco under the auspices of the San Francisco Y M C A. on "The Ten Lepers."

WALSH DECLARES OPPOSITION TO TREATY

If the Commoner was slightly uncommunicative with what he proposes to do in the resolutions committee and at the convention hall in the treaty fight, such was not the case with Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts.

"It is unthinkable that the Democrats here will try to railroad through a treaty plank such as the one so frequently discussed which provides only for 'interpretative' reservations. It would be disastrous. That is exactly what the Republicans want us to do," he said.

"As the Massachusetts member of the resolutions committee, I shall oppose such a plank in the platform with all my power. And if necessary I will carry the fight to the floor of the convention.

"To declare for 'interpretative' reservations is too vague. It doesn't mean anything. We must be more specific We must declare that we will accept reservations which are acceptable to the foreign powers We already know the Lodge reservations are acceptable to the foreign powers. Can anyone imagine us refusing to accept what foreign nations have already declared themselves willing to accept? Nothing can be more destructive to the party.

TREATY IS BIGGEST ISSUE, HE SAYS

"The treaty issue is the biggest issue before the Democratic party today. It must be got out of the way so that pressing domestic problems may be made the issue rather than foreign ones."

Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, candidate for the Democratic nomination, is another of the "reservationist" group expected to side with Bryan and Walsh when the fighting gets out into the open, as it will next week.

Bryan, the admitted leader of the forces opposing President Wilson's point of view on the treaty, has not yet declared he would not accept a compromise on the league issue. He did state today, however, that he would accept no compromise on the wet and dry issue, a fact which lent itself to further talk of the administration forces using a wet candidate to scare him into supporting a Wilsonian treaty Democrat.

It is not expected that such a pass will be reached before several ballots have been cast for the candidates. Meantime a battle to decide what goes into the platform will continue.

KENTUCKY MEN DECLARE FOR DRY

Leaders of the Kentucky delegation of 28 men and women arrived before the Bryan train got in and surprised local people by announcing that they are "bone dry" in politics.

Among the Kentucky delegates were Senators J. C. W. Beckham and A. O. Stanley, Congressman A. W. Barkley, Desha Breckenridge, Mrs. Corwa Wilson Stewart and Mrs. Nora Layne, all of whom expressed themselves as favoring prohibition and pro-league

"We are for the league of nations for President Wilson's administration heart and soul and against amending the Volstead act," declared Senator Beckham.

Ex-Governor L. B. McCorkle, with sixteen West Virginia delegates, also came in about the same time that Bryan arrived with the delegation pledged to elect Ambassador Davis.

W. VIRGINIA FOR McADOO. WISCONSIN FOR COX

"But we have no thought of putting the Ambassador across We are really lined up for McAdoo," said the ex-governor. Among the West Virginians were Riley Wilson, Blaine Shaw and Herbert Pfahler of the Charlestown Gazette.

Judge John C Karel, heading the Wisconsin delegation, declared enthusiastically for Governor Cox of Ohio for president. He also said that it was desired to make Senator Walsh of Montana, a former Wisconsin man chairman of the resolutions committee.

'WETS' REPORTED TO BE WEAKENING

casioned when the Oregon delegation brought word that they had received positive assurance that the son-in-law will not be a candidate. Senator Hitchcock wired the Nebraska delegation that he would not, under any circumstance, stand for the vice-presidency. He is a candidate for the presidential nomination.

MORRIS TO CONSULT ON JAPANESE QUESTION

Roland S. Morris, here with the Pennsylvania delegation and ambassador to Japan, has declared his willingness to co-operate with Californians in solving questions touching American plans with Japan. It is probable that W. Bourke Cochran of New York will urge the Irish plank for the New York delegation. With two committees on the field asking separate action on this question, it is becomng more than likely that the Democrats will find the only way out is to do nothing.

The prediction today is that not one of the leaders will remain when the final vote is counted—that Cox, Palmer and Edwards will be counted out. A dark horse will be brought one and given the place John W. Davis of Virginia, Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut Secretary of Agriculture Meredith of Iowa, and Senator Robert L. Owen are the most prominent of those who are waiting for the lightning to strike. The dark horse candidate is more apt to be among the first three named.

WHITE HOUSE AND S. F. PHONE STORY DENIED

WASHINGTON, June 26. — Neither President Wilson or Secretary Tumulty has talked by long distance telephone with San Francisco during the week, it was officially announced at the White House today.

Commission Draws Embargo On Coal

WASHINGTON, June 26. — A drastic embargo on all exportation of bituminous coal to go into effect June 28 is provided for in an order being drawn by the Interstate Commerce Commission, to be ready for promulgation shortly, it was announced today. At the same time, it was stated, a more comprehensive order giving coal priority movement over the railroads will be issued.

COX MEN WANT NO WET PLANK IN PLATFORM

By L. C. MARTIN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26—Democrats demanding a wet plank party platform and counting on the support of Governor Cox in their fight for it suffered a disappointment today when they learned that Cox and his chief supporters are against any reference to the liquor question in the platform.

Former Governor James E. Campbell of Ohio, who heads the Ohio delegation here, said today that Governor Cox stands for rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws.

"Cox is not the dupe either of the Anti-Saloon League or the liquor interests. He has enforced the laws as he found them and that's what he stands for."

Campbell said, that speaking for himself, he could see no reason why the Democratic platform should say anything about either side of the prohibition controversy.

"Is that Governor Cox's view also?" Campbell was asked

"I know that he is not hostile to that view," was the reply.

Other of Cox's supporters here were more emphatic in declaring that the governor is definitely opposed to including in the platform any mention of the question.

VOLSTEAD VETO IS BAIT

In this he is in line with the position of President Wilson, who has sent word to the Democrats here that he considers any mention of prohibition in the platform unnecessary. Though the administration forces plan to have the platform silent as between the wets and drys, they also intend to mention in reciting the accomplishments of the Wilson administration, the veto of the Volstead act, passed to provide for enforcement of nation-wide prohibition.

On the highest authority it was learned that this indirect appeal to wet voters will be included. The platform framers can legitimately mention the Volstead veto, it was pointed out, and show at the same time that it was a Republican Congress that passed the law over the President's objections

STILL IN SPOTLIGHT

The wet and dry issue continued to absorb most of the attention of delegates today, the arrival of William J. Bryan having stimulated interest in the subject.

Several dry leaders conferred with Bryan, among them being Charles J. Hall, Los Angeles, representing the "bone-dry federation." Hall submitted a bone-dry plank for Bryan's approval, pledging the Democratic party to accept and uphold the eighteenth amendment and to enact "or continue such legislation as will make it effective."

A big dry conference will be held Sunday at which Bryan and other leaders are to discuss convention strategy and plans

Agitators for a vigorous Irish plank also were busy. After a conference at the offices of the American commission on Irish independence here, it was announced that all the organizations in the Irish freedom movement had pooled their forces for a concerted drive on the Democrats to get a strong expression of sympathy for Irish nationalist aspirations

MODERATION COUNSELLED

Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, author of the resolution of sympathy with Ireland, which the Senate adopted, counselled moderation. Walsh brought with him a very mild Irish plank and told his co-workers in this cause that they stood a much better chance of getting an Irish plank if they did not demand too much

The administration forces frankly told all those asking for a mention of Ireland that they did not regard it necessary, but said they were willing to consider a plank expressing general sympathy for oppressed peoples and pointing out that the League of Nations offers such people their best hope of independence.

Such a plank will not be acceptable, however, the friends of Irish freedom said.

Though it is not yet certain whether Senator Glass of Virginia or Senator Walsh of Montana will head the resolutions committee, party leaders are determined that the platform, who ever writes it, shall take full advantage of what they regard as the mistakes of the Republican platform. They intend, therefore, to make the labor plank strong and clear, although some difficulty is anticipated in satisfying all factions of organized labor.

DOCKWEILER AND M'NAB ELECTED

BY UNITED PRESS,

Dockweiler's re-election as national committeeman for the next four years was given as a testimonial to his services in securing the Democratic convention for San Francisco. In his speech of acceptance, Dockweiler related incidents of his work during the past four years in lining up votes for the California city as the meeting place for the Democrats.

Edward L. Doheny, Los Angeles, will represent California on the resolutions committee. Other committee representatives elected are:

Hugo K. Asher, San Francisco, committee on credentials; C. A. Storke, Santa Barbara, committee on rules; Timothy A. Riordan, San Francisco, committee on permanent organization.

Women Given Half of Committee Wet and Dry Issue Put on Shelf Equal Pay for Sexes Is Urged

By GEORGIA G. BORDWELL
Special Writer Oakland TRIBUNE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—The outstanding feature of yesterday's events, as far as the women of the Democratic party are concerned, was the fact that in open session at the convention hall, the national Democratic committee decided to give equal representation to the women on the committee.

This is the first time in the history of a political party that women are to be given a voice and a vote in the executive sessions of the committee.

The decision of the leaders of the Democratic party caused no special flutter of excitement among the women. They, apparently, were expecting the recognition and have no fear of its outcome when presented to the convention for ratification next week.

The committee voted unanimously to send a telegram to the governor of Tennessee, urging him to call a special session of the legislature for the passage of the suffrage amendment.

Mrs. Abby Scott Baker, who did not attend the meeting, but who sat just without the door of the committee room, braved the draughty halls where workmen put the finishing touches to convention decorations, while she waited for the verdict As the representative of the National Women's party, Mrs. Baker has worked unceasingly and with varying tactics for the passage of the federal amendment and its ratification. She has picketed the White House, gone to jail, picketed the Republican convention, and plead with the Democrats

Yesterday—like a soldier of France—holding his place in the thin line, Mrs. Baker sat without the committee room doors—waiting for help, hoping for help, but ready to fight to the last ditch.

Mrs Baker said yesterday that she was certain now that Tennessee would finish the long struggle for equal rights for women.

WOMEN TO SIDE-STEP BEER

During the closed meeting of the associate committee women, before the meeting of the national committee, it was decided that as far as the women were concerned the wet and dry question does not exist—it is a dead issue.

They indorsed the League of Nations with interpretative reservations

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank presented one of the labor planks which was the result of the survey made recently among women in industry by the labor committee of the Woman's Bureau, Mrs. Robert Bruere, chairman. The plank which was accepted by the women for presentation to the resolutions committee of the convention is as follows:

WOMEN DRAFT PLANKS

We affirm the right of collective bargaining between employers and employees through representatives of their own choosing. We approve, also, the national industrial councils established by employers and employees within the various industries, the findings of which shall have the effect of ordinary collective agreements but not of judicial decisions subject to compulsory enforcement.

We insist on the abolition of the labor of children under 14 years, and that children between 14 and 18 shall be permitted to work only after passing examinations by local school and health authorities, assuring proper standards of health and education.

We reaffirm our belief in the principles of the Democratic platform of 1916, and again urge the general adoption of the eight-hour day.

We believe that wages should be put on the basis of service, not of sex, and that minimum wages should be fixed which will insure to all wage earners a proper standard of health, comfort and efficiency.

FOOD CONTROL URGED

We urge that the federal trade commission be given greater powers over the basic food industries of life.

We advocate the development of a national system of employment offices under joint control of federal and state boards. To meet the problems of seasonal requirements of agriculture we urge the immediate organization of voluntary labor corps for harvesting with transportation subsidies.

We advocate the extension and development of the bureau of women in industry established by the Democratic party in the department of labor. We also urge the appointment of women on all government boards and tribunals dealing with industry and labor.

We recommend the protection of womanhood and infancy according to the best modern experience.

SECRETARY OF EDUCATION

Unqualified approval of the educational plank, as prepared by the National Education Association, and presented by Miss Charl Ormond Williams of Tennessee, was expressed in the mass meeting, presided over by Mrs. George Bass, head of the Woman's Bureau, last night at the Palace Hotel

This plank urges the establishment of a federal department of education with a secretary in the cabinet

Speakers at the mass meeting urged a strong labor platform as a means of assuring a Democratic victory. President Wilson and his administration were warmly approved, but no candidates were discussed.

Mrs. Mary Kinkaid, head of publicity, stated that thus far women delegates as follows would be seated in the convention: Delegates at large, 41; district delegates, 63; alternates at large, 39; district alternates, 165; total 308.

The arrival of Attorney General Palmer and Mrs. Palmer yesterday gave impetus to the social activities about the Palmer headquarters in the St. Francis Hotel, where Mrs. Halsey W. Wilson, national chairman of the women's department of the Palmer campaign, presided as hostess

Mrs. Wilson announced that she would hold open house all next week to afford a meeting place for delegates.

Meanwhile at the Palace, Mrs. Antoinette Funk, advance agent for the McAdoo forces, issued an informal invitation to the McAdoo friends to be her guests at tea every afternoon between 4 and 6.

Mrs. Funk's lone campaign was strengthened yesterday by the arrival of Mrs. Howard T. Wilson of Virden, Illinois, alternate at large.

WOMAN FARMER FOR McADOO

Mrs Willson, who says that she is a farmer and lives on a farm, was state chairman of the liberty loan committee. She comes to the convention with McAdoo as her avowed candidate.

Her arguments in favor of her candidate include the fact that by reason of the liberty bonds, upon which his name appears, the people of the country have acquired bank accounts—old debts have been paid—happiness has accrued in thousands of families thereby, and that his name is a household word.

"A household word is unbeatable," declares Mrs. Willson—who, as a business woman believes in advertising.

Bryan, Walsh, Owen and Reed Reported in Combine to Fight Wilson and His Peace Pact

By J. BART CAMPBELL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—An anti-administration coalition on the League of Nations issue of William Jennings Bryan and Senators James A. Reed of Missouri, David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, and Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma was under way today.

A conference between Bryan, the three senators and other Democratic leaders unalterably opposed to the President's proposal to have the Democratic convention make the league the paramount issue of the campaign was to take place during the day.

WALSH HEARD FROM

Walsh declared he intended to fight, as the Massachusetts member of the resolutions committee, for a plank he himself was drafting which would place the Democratic party on record as favoring the commitment of the American people to a league only with such safeguarding reservations as 21 Democratic senators voted for when the treaty of Versailles was before the Senate.

Walsh and Owen, who is a presidential candidate, both said they agreed with Bryan that the question of how the treaty and the league covenant should be ratified should be left not to "one-man rule," but to a two-thirds vote of the Senate. A showdown on the strength of the anti-administration forces in the convention may come first, it was predicted, by Reed appealing to the floor from a refusal of the credentials committee to seat him as a delegate from Missouri.

A vote in the convention on whether Reed is entitled to a seat probably would force the hand of the President, it was declared, and demonstrate how far Bryan and other anti-administration leaders are likely to get in the fight they say they will wage in and out of the convention to prevent the Wilson league plank drafted by Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, from being adopted.

GLASS SUPPORTS WILSON

Glass and other administration leaders assert that Bryan and Senators Reed, Walsh and Owen are engaged in a losing fight and that the President's program will be indorsed by the sweeping action of an overwhelming proportion of delegates from all sections of the country.

"Tom" Taggart, the veteran Indiana leader, is credited with being for the league, with or without reservations. He is a candidate for the United States Senate opposed to the re-election of Senator James E Watson, and Taggart's followers say a canvass of Indiana has convinced him the Democrats of that state will uphold the President's league policy and also vote "dry."

Connecticut Favors 'Dry' Law Changes

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—(United Press.)—Connecticut's delegation to the Democratic national convention was squarely on record today in favor of a moist plank in the Democratic platform.

Within two hours after their arrival in San Francisco the delegation voted to favor a plank advocating modification of the Volstead act to permit each state to frame its own definition of intoxicating liquor.

Roberts After Vote for Women of State

WASHINGTON, June 26. — Governor Roberts of Tennessee, in a telegram to President Wilson today said he favored ratification of the suffrage amendment and would include this subject in a call for a special session of the legislature if his legal department advised him that ratification could be made. Despatches from Nashville had said that the attorney general of that state agreed with Federal Assistant Attorney General Frierson that, the legislature could vote on ratification.

Harding Starts On "Unknown" Vacation

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Senator Harding, the Republican presidential candidate, left Washington today for an unannounced destination. He plans to be away until Tuesday, and it was said at his office that his destination would not be disclosed.

Senator Harding requested that newspaper correspondents make no effort to follow him, as it was his wish to spend his time quietly.

WOMEN NOT TO SEEK FEDERAL OFFICES AT S. F.

By DAVID M. CHURCH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Democratic women are not going to seek federal offices from the 1920 Democratic convention, according to Mrs. George Bass and other leaders today.

"This talk of the Democratic women demanding that a woman be nominated for President is absurd," said Mrs. Bass today. "There has been no mention of the placing of women in any federal offices during any of our pre-convention conferences. The women are not interested in that phase of politics right now. Perhaps four years hence the situation may be changed."

"The action taken by the Democratic national committee in recommending that women be appointed to the national committee from each state is pleasing to all women of the party," Mrs. Bass stated, "and if the convention accepts this recommendation it will be the only concession to women that will be asked by the female members of the party.

PROVE STRENGTH, FIRST.

"I can't get behind any movement to place women in nomination for federal offices at this convention," said Miss Mary Foy, associate national committee women We are just getting into this game and I believe that we should go slowly and feel our strength. I would prefer that we approach office holding only after we have proven our strength and our value to our party. Perhaps at the next convention we may be in a position to ask that we be given recognition in the selection of nominees, but I don't want to hurry this matter. We have too much to do in the way of securing constructive legislation to worry about offices yet."

"Democratic women are not seeking offices yet," said Mrs. Bernice Pyke of Cleveland, delegate from the twenty-second Ohio district. "We aren't ready for office holding yet and I shall use all of my power to keep down suggestions that women be placed in nomination for office."

NOT READY TO ASK.

Even though the Democratic women have gone on record in favor of a platform urging a federal bureau for education, with a cabinet member at its head, they are not ready to ask that a woman be appointed to this office.

"The suggestion has not been made in our conferences that a woman should be named as the cabinet officer at the head of the proposed bureau of education," said Mrs. Bass, "and I don't believe that it will be. We would be very happy if it were found that a woman was best fitted for this office but the women will not seek it, they merely want it to go to the most capable person obtainable."

Despite Mrs. Bass' statement there has been considerable talk among women delegates as to the possibility of a woman being appointed to the cabinet if the desired legislation is passed. Miss Mary Foy of Los Angeles and Miss Charl O. Williams of Memphis, Tenn., both well known educators, have been suggested as possibilities for the office.

anti-Wilson factions of the party and the feeling is very intense. This feeling is intensified still further by the fact that A. Mitchell Palmer, himself a candidate with twenty-eight votes at stake, is sitting as one of the judges.

It was generally conceded that the pro-Wilson element would win, which would result in seating the Palmer delegates from Georgia and the denial of a seat to Senator "Jim" Reed of Missouri, who has been the President's most consistent opponent inside the party.

The anti-Palmer forces of Georgia are headed by Charles S. Barrett, head of a farm organization of 4,000,000 farmers, and former Senator Thomas Hardwick.

"There will be a hot time in Georgia in November if this committee seats the Palmer crowd and denies representation of two-thirds of the Democratic voters of Georgia," said Barrett today.

Senator Reed was present in person today to fight his case.

Selection of the temporary officers of the Democratic national convention, arrangement of the program for the opening session on Monday, and the disposition of a mass of preliminary work, is announced today by the national committee.

According to a memorandum distributed to members of the committee, 755 of the 1092 delegates are uninstructed. These instructions, according to the card, are: Iowa, 26 for Meredith; Kentucky, 26 for Cox; Nebraka, 16 for Hitchcock; New Jersey, 28 for Edwards; North Carolina, 24 for Simmons; Ohio, 48 for Cox; Oklahoma, 20 for Owen;; Oregon, 10 for McAdoo; Pennsylvania, 76 for Palmer; South Dakota, 10 for Gerard; Virginia, 24 for Glass. The 28 votes from Georgia are contested.

Examination of the temporary roll call shows there will be 308 women delegates and alternates in the convention. The large majority of them are alternates, many states not having a woman as a delegate.

PROGRAM OUTLINED FOR MONDAY'S WORK

The tentative program for the first day follows:

Call to order by J. Bruce Kremer of Montana, vice-chairman of the national committee.

Prayer by Monsignor P. L. Ryan, vicar general of the archdiocese of San Francisco.

Reading of call for the convention by E. G. Hoffman, secretary of the national committee.

Announcement of the temporary organization of the convention.

"Keynote" speech of the convention by Temporary Chairman Homer S. Cummings.

Presentation of routine resolutions from the delegates.

Roll call of states to present selections for the convention committees.

Selection of credentials, rules and order of business, permanent organization, platform and resolutions committees; and committees on notification of Presidential and Vice-Presidential nominees.

Selection of honorary vice-presidents and secretaries of the convention.

Adjournment until Tuesday.

For Tuesday, June 29, the tentative program is as follows:

Prayer by Bishop William Ford Nichols of the Episcopal diocese of California.

Reports of credentials committee and committee on permanent organization; action on committee reports; address by permanent chairman; report of committee on rules and order of business.

PLANK PROPOSED BY BONE DRY MEN.

Hall, of the Bone Dry Federation, will meet not only with Bryan but other dry leaders as well to offer suggestions on a dry plank. Here is the plank Hall has ready for presentation to the resolutions committee:

"The Democratic party, always the party of the constitution, believing in obedience to law, pledges itself to sustain and uphold the constitution as amendde by the American people, in the exercise of their power, by the Supreme Court's decision. 'We accept the verdict as the fixed policy of the American people an dpledge the party, if successful in the election, to a policy of loyalty to law and to enact or continue such legislation as will make effective the eighteenth amendment to the constitution."

Mr. Hall declared that Mr. Bryan si the first choice of the drys with A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania as second, or Senator Owens of Oklahoma. He declared Governor Cox of Ohio is an "impossibility." Edwards of New Jersey a "tragedy." If McAdoo was nominated on a platfrom, he said, the drys would rally to him if the platform was satisfactory.

The drys expect to hold a conferance here on Sunday.

TONE UP YOUR STOMACH

There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. But the stomach depends, as does every other organ, on the blood for its energy.

There can be no perfect digestion without rich, red blood. This is scientifically true. The way then to tone up the stomach is to enrich the blood.

If your digestion is off and your blood is thin there can be no question about it. You need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore the condition of your blood, use care in the selection of your diet and the stomach will take care of itself.

Stomach trouble is debilitating. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic and build up the blood generally.

Most stomach remedies try to digest your food for you. How much better it is to tone up the stomach so that it will do its own work as nature intended. There is no pleasure in eating predigested food. Tone up your stomach and your appetite and digestion will soon be normal.

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat" which tells about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Advertisement.

A Successful Political Intrigue

It is not generally known that Tictocq, the famous French detective, was in Austin last week. He registered at the Avenue Hotel under an assumed name, and his quiet and reserved manners singled him out at once for her to be singled out.

No one knows why he came to Austin, but to one or two he vouchsafed the information that his mission was an important one from the French Government.

One report is that the French Minister of State has discovered an old statute among the laws of the empire, resulting from a treaty between the Emperor Charlemagne and Governor Roberts which expressly provides for the north gate of the Capital grounds being kept open, but this is merely conjecture.

Last Wednesday afternoon a well-dressed gentleman knocked at the door of Tictocq's room in the hotel.

The detective opened the door.

"Monsieur Tictocq, I believe," said the gentleman.

"You will see on the register that I sign my name Q. X. Jones," said Tictocq, "and gentlemen would understand that I wish to be known as such. If you do not like being referred to as no gentleman, I will give you satisfaction any time after July 1st, and fight Steve O'Donnell, John McDonald, and Ignatius Donnelly in the meantime if you desire."

"I do not mind it in the least," said the gentleman. "In fact, I am accustomed to it. I am Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, Platform No. 2, and I have a friend in trouble. I knew you were Tictocq from your resemblance to yourself."

"Entrez vous," said the detective.

The gentleman entered and was handed a chair.

"I am a man of few words," said Tictocq. "I will help your friend if possible. Our countries are great friends. We have given you Lafayette and French fried potatoes. You have given us California champagne and—taken back Ward McAllister. State your case."

"I will be very brief," said the visitor. "In room No. 76 in this hotel is stopping a prominent Populist Candidate. He is alone. Last night some one stole his socks. They cannot be found. If they are not recovered, his party will attribute their loss to the Democracy. They will make great capital of the burglary, although I am sure it was not a political move at all. The socks must be recovered. You are the only man that can do it."

Tictocq bowed.

"Am I to have carte blanche to question every person connected with the hotel?"

"The proprietor has already been spoken to. Everything and everybody is at your service."

Tictocq consulted his watch.

"Come to this room tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock with the landlord, the Populist Candidate, and any other witnesses elected from both parties, and I will return the socks."

"Bien, Monsieur; schlafen sie wohl."

"Au revoir."

The Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, Platform No. 2, bowed courteously and withdrew.

Tictocq sent for the bell boy.

"Did you go to room 76 last night?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who was there?"

"An old hayseed what come on the 7:25."

"What did he want?"

"The bouncer."

"What for?"

"To put the light out."

"Did you take anything while in the room?"

"No, he didn't ask me."

"What is your name?"

"Jim."

"You can go."

* * * * * *

The drawing-rooms of one of the most magnificent private residences in Austin are a blaze of lights. Carriages line the streets in front, and from gate to doorway is spread a velvet carpet, on which the delicate feet of the guests may tread.

The occasion is the entree into society of one of the fairest buds in the City of the Violet Crown. The rooms are filled with the culture, the beauty, the youth and fashion of society. Austin society is acknowledged to be the wittiest, the most select, and the highest bred to be found southwest of Kansas City.

Mrs. Rutabaga St. Vitus, the hostess, is accustomed to draw around her a circle of talent and beauty, rarely equaled anywhere. Her evenings come nearer approaching the dignity of a salon than any occasion, except, perhaps, a Tony Faust and Marguerite reception at the Iron Front.

Miss St. Vitus, whose advent into society's maze was heralded by such an auspicious display of hospitality, is a slender brunette, with large, lustrous eyes, a winning smile, and a charming ingenue manner. She wears a china silk, cut princesse, with diamond ornaments, and a couple of towels inserted in the back to conceal prominence of shoulder blades. She is chatting easily and naturally on a plush covered tete-a-tete with Harold St. Clair, the agent for a Minneapolis pants company. Her friend and schoolmate, Elsie Hicks, who married three drummers in one day, a week or two before, and won a wager of two dozen bottles of budweiser from the handsome and talented young hackdriver, Bum Smithers, is promenading in and out the low French windows with Ethelbert Windup, the popular young candidate for hide inspector, whose name is familiar to every one who reads police court reports.

Somewhere, concealed by shrubbery, a band is playing, and during the pauses in conversation, onions can be smelt frying in the kitchen.

Happy laughter rings out from ruby lips, handsome faces grow tender as they bend over white necks and drooping heads; timid eyes convey things that lips dare not speak, and beneath silken bodice and broadcloth, hearts beat time to the sweet notes of "Love's Young Dream."

"And where have you been for some time past, you recreant cavalier?" says Miss St. Vitus to Harold St. Clair. "Have you been worshipping at another shrine?" Are you recreant to your whilom friends? Speak, Sir Knight, and defend yourself."

"Oh, come off," says Harold, in his deep, musical baritone; "I've been having a devil of a time fitting pants on a lot of bow-legged jays from the cotton-patch. Got knobs on their legs, some of 'em big as gourds, and all expect a fit. Did you ever try to measure a bow-legged—I mean—can't you imagine what a jam-swizzled time I have getting pants to fit 'em? Business dull too, nobody wants 'em over three dollars."

"You witty boy," says Miss St. Vitus. "Just as full of bon mots and clever sayings as ever. What do you take now?"

"Oh, beer."

"Give me your arm and let's go into the drawing-room and draw a cork. I'm chewing a little cotton myself."

Arm in arm, the handsome couple pass across the room, the cynosure of all eyes. Luderic Hetherington, the rising and gifted night-watchman at the Lone Star slaughter house, and Mabel Grubb, the daughter of the millionaire owner of the Humped-backed Camel saloon, are standing under the oleanders as they go by.

"She is very beautiful," says Luderic.

"Rats," says Mabel.

A keen observer would have noted all this time the figure of a solitary man who seemed to avoid the company. But by adroit changing of his position, and perfectly cool and self-possessed manner, avoided drawing any special attention to himself.

The lion of the evening is Herr Professor Ludwig von Bum, the pianist. He had been found drinking beer in a saloon on East Pecan street by

"If you do not like being referred to as no gentleman I will give you satisfaction any time after July first."

Colonel St. Vitus about a week before, and according to the Austin custom in such cases, was invited home by the colonel, and the next day accepted into society, with large music classes at his service.

Professor von Bum is playing the lovely symphony in G minor from Beethoven's "Songs Without Music." The grand chords fill the room with exquisite harmony. He plays the extremely difficult passages in the obligato home run in a masterly manner, and when he finishes with that grand te deum with arpeggios on the side, there is that complete hush in the room that is dearer to the artist's heart than the loudest applause.

The professor looks around.

The room is empty.

Empty with the exception of Tictocq, the great French detective, who springs from behind a mass of tropical plants to his side.

The professor rises in alarm.

"Hush," says Tictocq: "Make no noise at all. You have already made enough."

Footsteps are heard outside.

"Be quick," says Tictocq: "give me those socks. There is not a moment to spare."

"Vas sagst du?"

"Ah, he confesses," says Tictocq. "No socks will do but those you carried off from the Populist Candidate's room."

The company is returning, no longer hearing the music.

Tictocq hesitates not. He seizes the professor, throws him upon the floor, tears off his shoes and socks, and escapes with the latter through the open window into the garden.

Tictocq's room in the Avenue Hotel.

A knock is heard at the door.

Tictocq opens it and looks at his watch.

"Ah," he says, "it is just six. Entrez, Messieurs."

The missieurs entrez. There are seven of them; the Populist Candidate who is there by invitation, not knowing for what purpose; the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, platform No. 2, the hotel proprietor, and three or four Democrats and Populists, as near as could be found out.

"I don't know," begins the Populist Candidate, "what in the he——"

"Excuse me," says Tictocq, firmly. "You will oblige me by keeping silent until I make my report. I have been employed in this case, and I have unravelled it. For the honor of France I request that I be heard with attention."

"Certainly," says the Chairman; "we will be pleased to listen."

Tictocq stands in the center of the room. The electric light burns brightly above him. He seems the incarnation of alertness, vigor, cleverness, and cunning.

The company seat themselves in chairs along the wall.

"When informed of the robbery," said Tictocq, "I first questioned the bell boy. He knew nothing. I went to the police headquarters. They knew nothing. I invited one of them to the bar to drink. He said there used to be a little colored boy in the Tenth Ward who stole things and kept them for recovery by the police, but failed to be at the place agreed upon for arrest one time, and had been sent to jail.

"I then began to think. I reasoned. No man, said I, would carry a Populist's socks in his pocket without wrapping them up. He would not want to do so in the hotel. He would want a paper. Where would he get one? At the Statesman office, of course. I went there. A young man with his hair combed down on his forehead sat behind the desk. I knew he was writing society items, for a young lady's slipper, a piece of cake, a fan, a half emptied bottle of cocktail, a bunch of roses, and a police whistle lay on the desk before him.

"Can you tell me if a man purchased a paper here in the last three months?' I said.

"Yes," he replied; "we sold one last night."

"Can you describe the man?"

"Accurately. He had blue whiskers, a wart between his shoulder blades, a touch of colic, and an occupation tax on his breath."

"Which way did he go?"

"Out."

"I then went——"

"Wait a minute," said the Populist Candidate, rising; "I don't see why in the h——"

"Once more I must beg that you will be silent," said Tictocq, rather sharply. "You should not interrupt me in the midst of my report."

"I made one false arrest," continued Tictocq. "I was passing two finely dressed gentlemen on the street, when one of them remarked that he had 'stole his socks.' I handcuffed him and dragged him to a lighted store, when his companion explained to me that he was somewhat intoxicated and his tongue was not entirely manageable. He had been speaking of some business transaction, and what he intended to say was that he had 'sold his stocks.'

"I then released him.

"An hour afterward I passed a saloon, and saw his Professor von Bum drinking beer at a table. I knew him in Paris. I said 'here is my man.' He worshipped Wagner, lived on limburger cheese, beer and credit, and would have stolen anybody's socks. I shadowed him to the reception at Colonel St. Vitus', and in an opportune moment I seized him and tore the socks from his feet. There they are."

With a dramatic gesture, Tictocq threw a pair of dingy socks upon the table, folded his arms, and threw back his head.

With a loud cry of rage, the Populist Candidate sprang once more to his feet.

"Gol darn it! I WILL say what I want to. I——"

The two other Populists in the room gazed at him coldly and sternly.

"Is this tale true?" they demanded of the Candidate.

"No, by gosh, it ain't!" he replied, pointing a trembling finger at the Democratic Chairman. "There stands the man who has concocted the whole scheme. It is an infernal, unfair political trick to lose votes for our party. How far has this thing gone?" he added, turning savagely to the detective.

"All the newspapers have my written report on the matter, and the Statesman will have it in plate matter next week," said Tictocq, complacently.

"All is lost!" said the Populists, turning toward the door.

"For God's sake, my friends, pleaded the Candidate, following them! 'listen to me; I swear before high heaven that I never wore a pair of socks in my life. It is all a devilish campaign lie."

The Populists turn their backs.

"The damage is already done," they said. "The people have heard the story. You have yet time to withdraw decently before the race."

All left the room except Tictocq and the Democrats.

"Let's all go down and open a bottle of fizz on the Finance Committee," said the Chairman of the Executive Committee, Platform No. 2.

MY HEART and HUSBAND

by ADELE GARRISON

The News Alice Holcombe Brought.

I do not know just how I reached the front entrance of the schoolhouse in response to the frantic summons of the young taxi driver.

I am afraid that I descended in most undignified fashion, two or three steps at a time, perhaps even recalled a pastime of my childhood and slid down the banisters, secure in the knowledge that the janitor was engaged in another part of the building, and there was no one else around. There were two thoughts urging me to such mad haste—one the need for physical aid to Alice Holcombe, and the other, the necessity for keeping unobserved, if possible, her arrival in an unconscious condition at the school.

The young driver, a boy whose weak eyesight had kept him from the army, and who therefore had not the experience in emergencies which his fellows of the same age would have possessed, stood looking helplessly at the interior of the taxi as I flew down the steps. I knew that he had been driving but a short time, had a sudden illuminative flash of the risk one would take being driven by a man with no more initiative or presence of mind than he, and pushed aside unceremoniously as I reached the door of the taxicab.

My friend lay in a huddled heap upon the floor of the car, fortunately a roomy one. A quick survey told me that she was not dead, but that she needed instant attention. One hand was clenched around a small vial, and for an instant my heart almost stopped beating. Surely she had not—

Then, as I quickly snatched at the bottle I saw that it contained simply a powerful restorative.

INTO THE SCHOOL.

"She sent me in for that at the drug store," the boy was babbling, "just after she got in the taxi. 'George,' she says, 'I've got such an awful sick headache, I wish you'd get me something at the drug store.' She wrote the name on a little piece of paper and I took it in. She was all right when I gave it to her, and she told me to come here as quick as I could, and I did, and when I got here—"

"Help me lift her," interrupted his confidences brusquely.

While he had talked I had been getting her limp body into a position where it could easily be lifted out of the taxicab. But the subconscious attention I had given his words made me realize that Alice must have foreseen her own collapse, must have tried to reach me before it happened. I feared that there must have been some serious happening at the coroner's inquest to cause this death-like swoon.

"Slip your arm under her shoulders—the other here—that's it. Now I will take her feet. The door is open. I left it so when I came down. We will take her straight to the kindergarten room on this first floor. You know where it is."

"Sure. I started in school in that room. Say, is she pretty bad? I can go for a doctor as quick as a wink."

"I don't know. I can tell in a few minutes. And we don't want a doctor unless we have to have one. You know she wouldn't like anybody to know of her coming here in a faint."

"Nobody'll ever know it from me," he said with boyish earnestness as we bore Alice Holcombe's slight figure up the steps and down the hall to the kindergarten room, the welcome thought of which with its small level tables had come to me opportunely.

SHE SPEAKS.

"That's right. I'm sure she can trust you," I returned. "Now put her on this table. Hold her until I can get my arms under her shoulders. There—that's it! Now bring two or three more of the tables here so we can stretch her out on the flat surface.

He obeyed me quickly, deftly, as he did every other direction I gave him in the next few minutes. Evidently he was the type of person always cast for the role of assistant, never as principal. But I could have had no better helper, and it was not long before Alice opened her eyes and was able to swallow the restorative which she had brought with her.

She looked from me to the boy helplessly with the wondering glance of those coming out of a swoon. Then she spoke slowly.

"I—didn't—make—it—after—all. Did—anybody—see—me?"

"Only he and I," I answered promptly, "and we'll try to get you upstairs to the office before the janitor passes through here again. He's already swept this room, and we've only to put back the tables as we found them."

"Benny—will—do—that. Won't—you—Benny?" she asked him, with the attention to details to which a woman in the throes of a strong emotion will sometimes stop to attend.

I had hoped she would allow her attention to be diverted in this very way, for I did not wish to hear the news she had to tell me until the boy, loyal lad though he appeared to be, was safely out of the way.

"Oh, sure, Miss Holcombe! You know I'd do anything for you."

"I know, Benny." Her slow, sweet smile, her monotonous voice, had something tragic in it, the reason for which I did not get until after she was safely ensconced on the sofa in the office and Benny had gone with instructions to return in half an hour for us. Then she suddenly looked up, her eyes tortured, and broke out explosively:

"They arrested Kenneth this afternoon."

GERMAN SHIP TO BOMB U. S. GIVEN BRITAIN

LONDON, June 25.—The most wonderful airship in the world, the Zeppelin L-71, built by the Germans to bomb New York is about to arrive at Pulham, the British air station. She will be piloted to England by a mixed German and British crew.

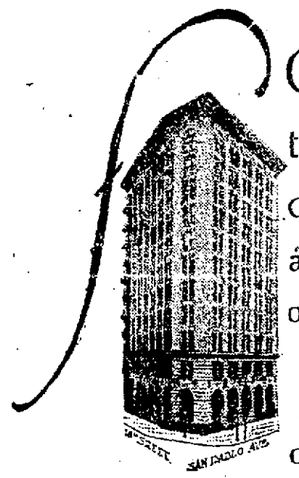

The airship has a flying radius of 12,000 miles, or more than three times the distance between London and New York. She is as large again as the British airship, the R-34, that flew to America and back.

Under the terms of the peace-treaty America also is to have a Zeppelin, one which is smaller than the L-71, and Captain Max Field, who is training a picked crew of American airmen in Yorkshire, will probably go to Germany to take charge of her.

League Recalls Israel's Test Problem Recurs After Centuries

Subject: The Noble Life of Samuel. Golden Text: I will instruct you in the good and the right way.—1 Sam., 12:23.

The lessons of this quarter deal with the transition of the government of the Hebrew people from a theocracy to an autocracy. The neighboring peoples were ruled by kings. The Hebrew people had developed in Egypt under an autocratic form of government. They had been led out of Egypt by Moses and Aaron. Moses was the lawgiver, but he announced his laws as revealed to him by God himself. Moses was the judge as well as the leader. He heard the cases brought before him and rendered judgment. Aaron was a high priest and in control of the strictly religious rights and observances of the people. Joshua succeeded as a great military and religious leader and conquered the promised land for the Hebrew people. This unique form of government, by which the laws regulating civil conduct and religious observance were promulgated by divine authority and executed by priest and judge, was peculiar to the Hebrew people. There was developed a spirit of liberty and freedom. The burdens of government were lightly borne, but the people felt the weakness of that form of government.

It was a problem then as it was in the time of Lincoln, whether such a government so conceived and so dedicated to the worship of Jehovah could long endure in the face of aggressive neighbors, with militaristic forms of government. The people lost faith in their form of government, and in the spasmodic leadership of the judges and priests, and sought a more permanent form of government with a more definite organization for defense. They were warned by Samuel that such a form of government entailed grievous burdens, that the establishment of a monarchial form of government meant that large numbers of the people would be placed in service, that burdensome taxes would be placed upon them, a prophecy which was so fully realized that after the successful reign of David and Solomon, the people cried out against the burdens imposed upon them by the aggressive and successful administration of these two great kings.

PROBLEMS ARE SIMILAR.

It seems strange that after nearly thirty centuries the same problem that confronted the Hebrew people confronted the liberty-loving people of the world, namely, the question as to whether or not nations so organized and trained for war and dominated by a militaristic power and ambition. Aside from the fact that President Wilson dealt with problems which confronted the whole world with its three billion people, and that Samuel and his people dealt with a problem confined to a smaller world in western Asia, the problem might be stated in much the same terms. Our national officials are now telling us that we must do either one of two things, join with the rest of democratic and liberty-loving people of the world a combination maintained by a united force, their rights and liberties, or stand alone and maintain one of the greatest, if not the greatest, navy in the world, and [illegible] training and instruction for large numbers of men of the country.

It would seem strange that we are still working to solve the problem which confronted Samuel three thousand years ago were it not for the fact that this problem is really the problem of human development and human liberty. It is this fact that makes the result of the last war so tremendously significant. With all its losses and hatreds engendered, the victory was on the side of the governments which had endeavored to return, as far as human government could, to the old idea of the Hebrew people, namely, a government in which individual liberty should be secure even at the expense of a lack of military efficiency and power. It may be that if the Hebrews had been able to maintain themselves under their original form of government, and had had the faith in the leadership of God that their forefathers as conquerors of Canaan had had, that the history of the world would have been vastly different, and perhaps the great war with all its bloodshed might have been unnecessary. That much will depend upon the next few years and the attitude of the governments of the world in their dealings with one another during that period, is self-evident. If the nations are welded together in spirit and in unity, it will be because of the hammer blows of the great war, just as the thirteen colonies were welded together by the revolutionary war and the American states by the Civil war, a unity which was at first maintained under great pressure, but a union which has since become one of head and heart and hand.

SAMUEL IS DOMINANT.

The dominant figure at the time of the transition of the Hebrew people was Samuel, dedicated before his birth to the service of God, a man who was utterly fearless and devoted to the cause of Jehovah, and desired above all things to lead the people in the worship and service of Jehovah. He was faithful during his entire life. He anointed Saul as king, and when Saul cooled in his ardor Samuel, divinely guided, selected David as his successor. This change was not immediately recognized either by Saul or by the people. David won his way into the affections of the people and into power by his courage, his military skill and his patience. His success was the natural result of the life he led and the character he displayed. Many a devoted follower of God has won his way to favor with man because his spirit was akin to that of God.

One of the difficulties of leadership is the fact that great power may lead to a feeling of self-sufficiency and pride. This occurred in the case of Saul, who for many years proved to be a worthy leader, but whose humility was replaced by pride and self-sufficiency. It sometimes seems when we read the story of Saul, that he desired to repent and truly serve God, and that Samuel was unwilling to accept Saul's repentance. Whether it be true or not, Saul ultimately came to feel that he was deserted by God, and in the presence of the enemy he sought the communion of the familiar spirit. Nevertheless, he fought to the end, and so valiantly that David sang the praises of Saul and his son Jonathan.

DANISH-NORWEGIAN.

Last Wednesday night at the Danish-Norwegian Baptist Church on Twenty-fifth avenue, the pastor, Rev. P. Petersen and his wife gave a reception in honor of the members received during his pastorate. It was announced that thirty-three members had been received, most of them being present at the affair, giving testimonies to their joy in Christ and in the company of His people. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Sunday there will be the Sunday school service at ten o'clock and a Danish service at 11. The subject will be "Few or Many," delivered by the pastor. 225 PUPILS ENROLLED FOR SUNDAY CLASS

The Daily Vacation Bible school of St. James' Presbyterian Church opened with an enrollment of about 225. It is under the care of Miss Mamie A. Hart, formerly of Oakland, now a teacher in the Normal school at Chico. She knows what little folks like to do and has a fine lot of paper work. There are about fifty boys making camels, about that many in the kindergarten building play houses for themselves; some forty girls are sewing; about twenty are making baskets; several are starting on market bags, and the dolls will come into their own next week. Buyers have been combing the stores, unable to get some things desired. A couple of new yells have been introduced. Misses Baker, Chamberlain, Dunn, and Velma Allyn, Mesdames Allyn and Nicholson and Charles Allyn and Roy Anderson are new helpers. There will be room for a half dozen more next week.

The morning topic at this church will be "Vicarious Sacrifice, Its Use and Abuse"; the evening subject "The Siege of Londonderry, Past and Present." Rev. John B. Donaldson will be in the pulpit at both services. S. A. Fulton, of Milwaukee, the international vice president of the Gideons, spoke last Sunday night on their work for traveling men. He and his wife were visiting at the home of W. E. McChesney.

Next Sunday afternoon Gertrude Yager Redman will sing. Another interesting feature of the program will be a reading by Fannie Ward Miller, the able elocutionist. It is expected that a large number of people will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending one of these Y. M. C. A. services in the hills.

She has been at Park Sunday school before and the youngsters always look forward eagerly to her promised visits.

A song and musical service is being planned for another Sunday, and there will be variation in the usual program for several of the vacation Sundays that promises to be interesting. Mrs. D. S. Collins, assistant superintendent of the school, will have charge of the services Sunday morning.

Christian Endeavor society will be held at the church at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. Allerton Ebert, president of the society, will lead the services.

Shall we not have a new leader and a new spirit in these new days? What is the single life?

The church quartet in honor of the National Convention will give a patriotic program. At the morning service Dr. Silsley will preach on "The Fuller Life," taking his theme from Paul's great appeal for nonconformity.

The last session of the Sunday school before the summer vacation will be held Sunday. The church services will continue until July 15 when the church will close for one month. The steady growth in the attendance at the church services during the past year and the increased interest in all the societies of the church have been most encouraging.

PROGRESSION BEYOND THE GRAVE
Repentance Possible Even There

By DR. JAMES E. TALMAGE
Of the Council of the Twelve, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints; Salt Lake City, Utah.

Note: For free copies of other articles of this series, send request to the author.

In view of scriptural affirmation that between His death and resurrection Christ visited and ministered to the spirits who had been disobedient, and who, because of unexpiated sins were still held in duress, it is pertinent to inquire as to the object and scope of the Savior's ministry among them. (See 1 Peter 3:18-19; and 4:6).

His preaching "to the spirits in prison" must have been purposeful and positive. Moreover, it is not to be assumed that His message was other than one of relief and mercy. Those to whom He went had long been in a state of durance, deprivation and suffering. To them came the Redeemer to preach, not to further condemn, to show them the way that led to light, not to intensify the darkness of their despair.

Had not that visit of deliverance been long predicted? Centuries earlier Isaiah had voiced the word of Jehovah concerning the state of proud and wicked spirits: "And they shall be gathered together, as prisoners are gathered in the pit, and shall be shut up in the prison, and after many days shall they be visited." (Isa. 24:22; see also 42:6, 7). David, conscious of his own transgression, but thrilled with contrition and hope, sang in measures of mingled sorrow and joy: "Therefore my heart is glad, and my glory rejoiceth: my flesh also shall rest in hope. For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell." (Psa. 16:9-10).

Inasmuch as Christ preached the Gospel to the dead, His ministry must have included the affirmation of His own atoning death, the inculcation of faith in Himself and in the whole plan of salvation, which includes as a fundamental essential, contrite repentance acceptable unto God.

Peter specifies the purpose of the Savior's introduction of the Gospel to departed spirits as "that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit." (1 Peter 4:6). Through latter-day revelation we learn that among the inhabitants of the terrestrial world, or lesser kingdom of glory, are "they who are the spirits of men kept in prison, whom the Son visited, and preached the gospel unto them, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh; who received not the testimony of Jesus in the flesh, but afterwards received it." (Doctrine and Covenants 76:73-74).

Progression, then, is possible beyond the grave. Advancement is eternal. Were it otherwise, Christ's ministry among the disembodied would be less than fable and fiction. Equally repugnant is the thought that though the Savior preached faith, repentance and other principles of the Gospel to the imprisoned sinners in the realm of spirits, their compliance was impossible.

It is not difficult to conceive of disembodied spirits being capable of faith and repentance. Death has not destroyed their status as individual intelligences. As they hear the glad tidings of the Gospel some will accept and others, the obstinate and rebellious, will reject and for a further period will have to languish in prison.

Besides the principles of the Gospel there are certain ordinances involving material works, which are indispensable to salvation. Among these the Scriptures specify baptism by immersion in water, and the reception of the Holy Ghost by the imposition of authorized hands. How can a man be baptized when he is dead? The answer is that the necessary ordinances may be administered vicariously for the dead to their living representatives in the body. Thus, as a man may be baptized in his own person for himself, he may be baptized as proxy for his ancestral dead. Herein we find point and explanation of Paul's challenging question to the doubting Corinthians: "Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not at all? why are they then baptized for the dead?" (1 Cor. 15:29).

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints affirms that the Divine plan of salvation is not bounded by the grave; but that the Gospel is deathless and everlasting, reaching back through all the ages that have sped, and forward into the eternities of the future. Vicarious service by the living in behalf of the dead is in line with and a result of the supreme vicarious sacrifice embodied in the Atonement wrought by the Savior of the world.

Largely for the administration of ordinances in behalf of the dead the Latter-day Saints build and maintain Temples, wherein the living posterity enter the waters of baptism and receive the laying on of hands for the gift of the Holy Ghost, as representatives of their departed progenitors. This labor was foretold through Malachi as a necessary and characteristic feature of the last dispensation, preceding the advent of Christ in glory and judgment. Thus, the dead fathers and living children are turned toward one another in the affection of a kinship that is to endure throughout eternity. (See Mal. 4:5-6).

We solemnly aver that on April 3, 1836, Elijah, the ancient prophet came to earth and committed unto the restored Church the authority and commission to administer in behalf of the dead. (See Doctrine and Covenante 110-13-16).

We need to do such a thing in a moral and spiritual way," says this pastor At the evening service the Rev. G. W. Phillips of the Tenth Avenue Baptist Church will preach at a Union service of the East Oakland churches. Rev. Phillips is a preacher well worth hearing, it is said.

New Record Made in Money Drive

Baptists Say Advertising Did It

At the convention f the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World in Indianapils, recently, an unusual address was delivered on "The Wisdom of Church Advertising," by Lupton A. Wilkinson, Director of Publicity, Northern Baptist New World Movement. The following remarks are excerpts from his address:

"The church has come to the point where it must ask itself—not the by in Sunday school or the business man in his office—why other institutions and influences have more hold on the daily life of millions, even of millions who rate themselves Christians, than the church itself. What industry that springs into being in these marvelous decades and leaps its way to the forefront of existense has a story to tell that compares in advertising resources with the story of the church of the living God?

RETURNS FROM ADVERTISING.

Northern Baptists expended more money for display advertising this spring than any one denomination ever appropriated befre for newspaper and magazine space in one year. If the results were measured coldly and from the standpoint of money alone, that appropriation would rank as one of the wisest a religious body ever made. It may interest advertising men to know that the Baptist campaign set a new world's record for per capita giving in a money "drive," it far exceeded the war work campaigns and such great church efforts as those of the Southern Baptists and the Methodist Centenary.

The future of church advertising, and the vital need of th echurch for its increase, lies, however, far removed from the financial campaign

A campaign of common-sense sermonizing in the press, on a scale surpassing any industrial display campaign, is certainly within the range of events which the advertising man can bring to pass. Baptist leaders feel that the whole cause which the denomination represents was furthered by our advertising this spring.

APOSTLES LED WAY.

It seems to me that no one has yet set down the amazing extent to which the fathers of Christianity surpassed their age in the field of publicity. If ever the flaming written word and its distribution aided a great cause, it was in the days when the religion of Christ was passing from outlawry to become a world institution. And, speaking in all reverence, can there be reason for assuming that the Master, He who startlingly turned water into wine at a wedding feast to the end that a city's attention might be arrested to His presence and men hear His messages, would frown on the use of full-page advertisements if He lived and taught today?

DIVINE FIRE WITHIN.

For the church has the divine fire within it It is the highest expression of the idealistic impulse in man, the spirit of aspiration that distinguishes him from the lower orders Advertising must, to achieve full fellowship, come to the church, with a sincere and humble desire to be of service. Advertising owes the church far more than the church will ever owe advertising, and, if you are skeptical enough to doubt that, note for a while how consistently the unselfish ideal set forth in the Sermon on the Mount illuminates the higher levels of industrial display copy.

There are two questions which I should like to ask every church leader in the United States First, if there were a preacher whose name was as well known as William Wrigley or Henry Ford, is it likely that the preacher's product would be less used? Second, what would become of the theatre if that institution advertised itself only within its own walls and by half-inch advertisements once a week?

His address will be on the theme "Prison Lights and Shadows" For ten years Mr. Booth has been in constant touch with the many interests of prison reforms. In this field he has studied the lives of men and women known to the world as "given-ups" and from their varied experiences and remarkable reformation has learnd the lesson of the redeemability of human nature All the reports of his work are such as to give promise for a most unusual and inspiring address

A PROPHESY FULFILLED.

A few months before his death, Theodore Roosevelt, former President, made the following statement:

"What I am afraid of is that this man Wilson will arouse hopes that never can be realized, and that the United States will suffer from the resentment that must follow. Then the very crowds that acclaim him now will rise up to damn him and us along with him, and we'll be left, as we were before we asserted our manhood and went into the war, the best-hated people in Europe. Wilson is playing a dangerous game. He's playing diplomacy with the most skilled diplomatists. Just now he's got all the advantages. But he is in the position of the tenderfoot with money playing poker with professional gamblers. In the beginning he has the advantage of money, they of experience. In the end they have the money and he some experience. The difference is that in one case an individual is gambling with his own, while in this case Mr. Wilson is playing with other folk's chips."

Colonel Roosevelt's fears during the peace conference at Paris has been more than justified by the events that have followed. The President did raise up false hopes that never can be realized. He was playing a game with skilled adepts. He was beaten and not only was the United States but the whole world disappointed by the result. The stakes were American prestige and security from future quarrels, possessions not of President Wilson but of the American people. They were wasted in chasing the will-o'-the-wisp of personal exaltation.

In view of this recent history, it is not surprising that in the jockeying that precedes the opening of the Democratic national convention in San Francisco next week, nearly all the candidates for the presidential nomination consider it to their advantage to explain that the President is not influencing them in any way, and in several cases to denounce the President and his policies. This is the sad state to which the Democratic party seems to have fallen just before the selection of a presidential candidate. And it is also sad to remember that it was in the ranks of that party where high regard and loyalty for the President was expected to dwell.

THE PERFECT HORSE.

Gambling and gamblers have contaminated many fine American sports and destroyed a few. The gamblers' taint is foul and blights whatever fair thing it touches. From time to time it has threatened baseball, the great popular pastime of this country and would have ruined it ere this were it not for the fact that the moderately intelligent men who rule over baseball have profited by the lessons of the past. The gamblers killed horse racing throughout the United States for a while and the sport has been revived only in a few places where the authorities and those interested in the game for the game's sake have had the courage and the precaution to extirpate the gamblers and their inevitable parasites.

There were grave fears for a while that the nation-wide ban on racing meets would have a crushing effect on the production of thoroughbred horses, the development of pure stock and fine specimens of this beloved animal. Production of blooded stock is of great utilitarian value, whatever line it is adapted to. Selection and scientific breeding in dairy and beef cattle has added hundreds of millions of dollars to the wealth of the nation. So it has in sheep, hogs and poultry. And the era of thoroughbred stock has just opened in this country.

Horse-breeding did receive a setback because of the necessity to suppress the gamblers and their confederates in debauching thoroughbred exhibitions. But there has been a recovery in recent years. The breeder of fine animals has a touch of the pure artist in him and his triumph always has been in the production of a master specimen. Racing is the method of proving his craftsmanship, the exhibition of his masterpieces. The exhilaration and joy that comes in such triumphs is the whole secret of the fortunes that have been spent for thoroughbred animals and their maintenance. The recognition which the blue ribbon indicates means more to the true breeder of blooded stock than all the money stakes ever won.

An exhibition in New York two weeks ago showed that at least a few breeders have ignored the decreased demand for thoroughbred horses and have gone on striving for new victories for the pure joy of achievement. At Belmont Park, Mr. Samuel D. Riddle's race horse Man o' War, ran a mile and three furlongs in 2 minutes, 14 1-5 seconds. This was not only a new world's record, but the wide margin of two and three-fifths seconds faster than the best previous record, set by the English horse, Dean Swift, at Liverpool in 1908. It was the greatest exhibition of race horse speed ever witnessed at any time on any race track.

This is an event that interests not only horsemen but all citizens, for it is an American triumph, the proving that an American bred horse is without a peer. Man o' War is the world's greatest race horse, the perfect horse. He is gifted with all the essentials of greatness, typifying the final goal of breeders. He is a splendid product, the king among equine nobles.

Back of this race horse is that which is most admirable in the genius of America—patience, courage, tenacity of purpose, knowledge and the willingness to sacrifice time and money for a supreme achievement. It is of the spirit that is America.

TALKED, BUT UNWISELY.

At the concluding session of the World's Suffrage Conference in Geneva, Switzerland, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, famous American suffrage worker, expressed displeasure at the proceedings. She frankly told the delegates that she wanted them and the world to know that she did not think they had said enough. "I have been disappointed at the findings of the convention," she said, "but it probably is too much, with the thought of the world in chaos, to expect that women would know exactly what to do."

Apparently there were different views on some of the questions considered and everybody failed to agree with Mrs. Catt. It is difficult to believe that enough was not said at the world suffrage convention, especially in view of the resolutions adopted on the closing day. These, among other things, expressed joy that the women of twenty-one nations had been enfranchised, expressed satisfaction that the people of many countries had been liberated by the war, called upon the women of the world to refuse to support war, and informed the League of Nations that they did not want special consideration as women, but absolute equality with men.

The third and fourth expressions would indicate that the conference said too much in order to maintain its reputation for sound thinking. To call upon the women of the world to refuse to support war is half foolish and wholly fruitless. War has not often come of the seeking of either men or women of the common people, and now that the German people have been taught their lesson it is improbable that such ever will be the case again. But when war must be accepted as the last resort for the defense of a people and their land against foreign invasion or alien oppression, women do not differ from men in sentiment. They always prove as patriotic and intelligent and as useful as men.

There is also a conflict of views between this stand of the convention regarding war and the request to the League of Nations to be treated in all deliberations of that body on an equality with men. Equality is a far-reaching term. It covers dangers and labors as well as advantages and ease. Equality of citizenship duties and failure to support a necessary defensive war cannot go together.

Mrs. Catt may be justified in her disappointment with the convention because it did not know what it wanted. But instead of not saying enough it spoke unwisely and thoughtlessly.

Dr. George Hodges reports this inscription on a tombstone in Concord, N. H.: "In the church he was a deacon: in private life, a Christian." All epitaph humor is properly unconscious. And this quaint comment in graveyard marble may cause those deacons who read it to ask themselves whether it will be necessary to append the declaration that they are also Christians.

GOVERNMENT USE OF FICTION.

Early in the war when two boys of a Blue Ridge family ran away from home and enlisted in the navy their relatives were puzzled to know why lads who had never seen the sea or read of it, and whose antecedents were not sailors, could have been drawn so far. Then it was discovered that one of the pictures in the house was an old lithograph of a sailing ship breasting the blue; that had done the trick. The Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior, which is trying to attract young men to the merchant marine (how misleading that word Interior is!) has not yet resorted to the Rhograph, but it has called upon fiction to help it. In a reading course published by the bureau we find, almost at the top of the list, "Two Years Before the Mast," "The Cruise of the Cachelot" and "Typhoon."

"We can make American blood leap again," says the bureau's circular, "in response to the splendid sea stories of Dana, Bullen and Conrad." We hope so. Speed the day when our merchant fleet is manned by sturdy young Americans, each enjoying the brass bed and shower bath which Mr. Hurley, as boss of the Shipping Board, decided were necessary for the service. The Bureau of Education does not pretend that nautical romances will completely fit a youth for the sea. Tucked away below the novels are prosier and more practical titles, such as Bowditch's "Navigator," W. J. Henderson's "Elements of Navigation" and Felix Riesenberg's "Men on Deck." First get the lad worked up with romance and then fill him full of reality.

This salt water reading course is not the only one the bureau has compiled. It has one on shipbuilding, another on iron and steel, a third on machine shop work. In these lists it lacks the benefit of the fiction stimulus. There is no rosy, romantic road, it seems, to the machine shop. "Jigs and Fixtures" and "Punches and Dies" are snappy titles, but the books back of them contain nothing but fact. There may be some genius who could write a thriller called "Two Years Before the Lathe," but he has not appeared. "Ruth the Riveter" or "Ann the Annealer" are missing titles. There may be a bushel of adventure in oxyactylene welding, but no writer has put it down in black and white.—New York Sun and Herald.

Irkutsk has been soviletized. The stores are closed and everything has been nationalized. As one of the first consequences food is very scarce, and people are eating black bread when they can get it, though even this fare is obtained only through permission cards. They are making the initial effort to bring about sovietism in North Dakota, though of course it is explained that it will not work that way in this country.

Things seem to be coming Mr. Doheny's way. Oil land decrees of the Carranza regime are to be voided, and he is a possible choice as the Democratic nominee for vice-president of the United States. Having a very plethoric "sack" and being so extensively interested in Mexico are two potent reasons for such recognition.

There is a news account of a call at San Jose for cucumber pickers. Notices at the fruit stores, above cucumber displays, "Three for 25 cents," leads to a whimsical speculation as to whether they have a rule in cucumber fields the same as in diamond mines, to prevent pickers carrying off great values in their clothes.

Seeing that it took a revolution and a bloody battle to get him out, and that he was put in jail for a time, the announcement by the State Department in recognizing his successor, that "the resignation of President Estrada Cabrera was submitted in due form and accepted by the National Assembly of Guatemala," seems to be an ultra diplomatic way of putting it.

A MODERN MRS. MALAPROP.

At a typical dinner during the Roosevelt administration, the room would be filled with diplomats, army and navy officers, and politicians—men of the great world mixed with those who had more brains than social experience. There would be much bowing and clicking of heels and introducing, and then perhaps a general would lead the way with an ambassadress to the dining room.

There was a Mrs. Malaprop of the administration, who, on such an occasion, observing Sir Joshua Reynolds' "Lady Cockburn and Her Children," remarked: "I suppose that is the Madonna"—blandly ignoring the three infants and the Georgian costume; and, then, amid a series of suppressed chuckles, inquired if the portrait of the duke of Wellington was not her host's father? Her lapses of language were famous. People never tired of telling how she went around getting signatures for a "red robin" when she meant a round one; and how, after her return from California, she described a wonderful trip through the "valley of Gethsemane" when she meant Yosemite.

Once she burst in upon an afternoon tea, announcing with loud and cheerful vigor: "I've been out in the country for a walk, and do you know, I jumped from rock to rock, just like a shamrock!"—Mrs. Larz Anderson in "Presidents and Pies" (Houghton-Mifflin).

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Why You Should Keep Your Feet Warm and Head Cool

By Dr. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

Keep your feet warm and your head cool, actually as well as figuratively speaking.

The warmth of dry clothing in summer or winter may depend upon the size of the meshes of the fabric. If they are fine and close, they inclose too little non-conducting air. If they are too large, the air will circulate through them too freely. This is all right in the summer, because the heat is then carried away from the skin by connection.

The coolness or warmth of a garment is not determined by its weight or thickness alone. The weave and the pores count much more. As long as these pores contain air, heat is conducted but slightly from the skin. When this air is substituted wholly or in part by perspiration or water, the garment will conduct the heat from the skin much too rapidly, especially if the air is cold. Thus the skin chills and bleaches, and the lungs or kidneys become congested with colds pneumonia or Bright's disease if the ever present germs are active.

Perspiration is useful only as it evaporates. Unless your clothing is such that perspiration volatilizes into the air as fast as you perspire there is a risk of a "cold" or worse.

Evaporation means that the flesh has been cooled just enough. If the moisture remains longer than the time required to evaporate it or dry it, the anatomy has been given too much of a chill—unless it is very warm around and about.

Too much water, fluids, muscular exercise or emotional excitement combined with a water-soaked, moist wind, have a tendency to make the hands and feet sweat.

Heavy shoes and thick stockings tend to prevent evaporation and increase perspiration of the feet.

Faulty meals which lack vitamines invite such maladies as rickets and scurvy may induce too much perspiration.

Powders, such as alum and zinc, are not the best measures to check perspiration. Fluids such as formalin well diluted, boric acid water and ammoniated mercury ointment are much more serviceable and successful as checks upon perspiration.

Persons who take tea or coffee to excess are likely to perspire too much.

Too much perspiration of the feet or of the armpits may be safely stopped by sponging the clean, dry surface each alternate day for three or four times with a solution of aluminum chloride, one-half ounce in two ounces of water, and allowing this to dry.

WATER COMPANY PURCHASE NEGOTIATIONS VOTED

EASTBAY CITIES JOIN FORCES TO ACQUIRE SERVICE

Negotiations for the purchase by the Eastbay cities of the entire plant and equipment of the Eastbay Water Company will open immediately as the result of a meeting yesterday afternoon between officials of the company and the water committee of mayors and councilmen of the cities, when the purchase project was voted unanimously.

The water properties and equipment will be surveyed at once and the company's price will be submitted to the water committee by August 1. Meanwhile the engineers of the water commission of the Eastbay cities will make an investigation to determine exactly what portion of the property the cities wish to buy.

EMERYVILLE JOINS MOVE.

As a further step towards the settlement of the water problem, attorneys of the cities involved will, while the valuation is being made and the engineers' report prepared, start work on a new public utility act to be submitted to the state legislature next January, for the formation of a public utility district for water only so that the cities can proceed with the handling of the system.

The city of Emeryville joined Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and Richmond during yesterday afternoon's conference, represented by Mayor W. H. Christie, who announced in an informal statement that Emeryville will proceed with the other cities in the project. Piedmont was not represented but is expected to come in also.

While he voted as a Berkeley delegate for the plan agreed on, Mayor Louis Bartlett announced at the same time that Berkeley will keep step with the other municipalities in the present project but at the same time will act independently in an attempt to solve the question for Berkeley alone until the rest of the cities have swung into the work as a unit.

COST TO BERKELEY.

Information as to the cost to Berkeley of cutting off its own portion of the Eastbay plant as a separate unit was promised to Mayor Bartlett by Wiggington Creed, president of the company, who attended yesterday's conference. Creed, however, declared that the college city will have to pay severance damages for the segregation of the Berkeley network of pipes and reservoirs.

During the discussion of the question of segregation brought up by Mayor Bartlett, Creed pointed out that it will be a more difficult matter to separate the Berkeley portion of the plant than would be the case in Alameda, and that if the scheme is carried out a great expense would follow the separation of the pipe system along the Berkeley-Albany line and the Berkeley-Oakland line, the severance damages involved, the payment of the city's share of the booster pump serving Oakland and Alameda as well, and the cost of substitutes for six pumping plants now serving the city that would have to be replaced.

DEVELOPMENT OUTLINED.

At the opening of yesterday's conference, Creed outlined the development now under way in the company's properties, including the San Leandro watershed and the San Pablo dam, and announced that the company will be in a position to take care of the cities for another 10 or 15 years, but that if the situation after that time was to be taken care of the cities must do the work themselves or co-operate with the company in the matter of further improvements, as the company will be unable to finance any further development under present financial conditions.

After a discussion of the company's properties and the question of the Berkeley separation, the session swung to a definite program with the announcement by Creed that the companw was not antagonistic to municipal ownership but would not be "left holding the bag" by disposing of only a portion of its plant included in the distributing system.

PRICE IS DISCUSSED.

Discussion of the question of a price for the plant and properties of the company then brought the further statement from Creed that the company will take any valuation that the railroad commission fixes. Informal discussion of the price question centered about the price of $14,000,000 made to the present company when it purchased the system several years ago, and the price of $17,000,000 fixed two years ago by the railroad commission for purposes of rate-fixing only.

In answer to a question by Mayor Bartlett as to whether the company would accept a valuation already fixed by the commission, Creed stated that it would be impossible to take a stand on that question until the matter of depreciation was solved. Mayor Bartlett suggested that the price of $14,000,000 be used as a basis for opening negotiations. It was agreed, on the matter of price, that the question will be threshed out after the company submits its proposition.

COMMITTEE PERFECTED.

Further perfection of the organization of the water commitiee, which up to yesterday's meeting consisted of the mayor and one councilman from each of the four cities, was accomplished by a vote of the committee naming Mayor John L. Davie as chairman of the committee and his secretary Harold D. Weber, to the same post on the committee. The other cities that join the project, to include probably Emeryville, Piedmont and Albany, will have the same representation.

It developed during the consideration of the approaching moves in the project that in purchasing the company's distributing plant, reservoirs and equipment, that a large amount of land included in the company's properties will not be required by the cities and will not be included in the purchase lot. Creed stated on the question that approximately $4,000,000 worth of land will probably be excluded from the deal, as not being needed for the operation of the system.

This question will be determined during the survey of the properties by the commission engineers, as well as the matter of what land should be retained by the cities as a matter of protection to watersheds, supplies and sources. Creed advised the acquisition of all land above dam sites that the cities can possibly purchase, in order that the reservoirs may be amply protected.

The new utility act to be drafted by the attorneys as one of the steps decided on, will rectify the objectionable features found by the committee in the present public utility act of 1915, which is considered not applicable to the Eastbay cities. The new act is to provide for centering of the administration of the district in the hands of the mayors of the cities concerned in the project, doing away with the tremendous overhead expense of a district under the present act, which provides for a highly paid board. The new act will be for water purposes only.

Sinn Feiners Resume Firing Near Bantry; Many Are Shot

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DUBLIN, June 26.—Although the situation at Londonderry had calmed today as a result of activity of the British troops, authorities here were apprehensive of outbreaks in other parts of Ireland, where feeling between Orangemen and Sinn Feiners is strong.

Reports were received of rioting in several Irish districts today. What appeared to be a concerted attack on Sinn Feiners occurred at Bantry, when a man named Crowley was murdered by a crowd of masked men.

Shooting of Crowley precipitated a general fight and resulted in many being wounded. Several shops and houses were burned down. An unsuccessful attempt was made to destroy a quantity of military stores on the Bantry quay.

MAIL IS SEIZED.

An armed band boarded the mail train bound from Belfast to Dublin, at Ballyhaise Junction, seizing official mail. An effort was made to resume normal business activity at Londonderry today, but citizens did not venture into the streets. Troops were in possession of St. Columbia's College.

Several snipers stationed in trees were shot down by machine gun fire; a destroyer in the harbor kept a searchlight focused over the roofs of the houses of Londonderry to rout out snipers. Sporadic sniping occurred, but there were no more general clashes between the factions. A former soldier named Austen was shot dead in the street.

LONDONDERRY, June 26.—The fighting ceased early this afternoon with the arrival of strong government reinforcements. A lone sniper kept working several hours after the week's battle had been terminated as if by mutual consent.

It is confirmed that at least six were killed by machine guns Thursday night.

Looting lasted throughout last night. Many of the plunderers were arrested by volunteers. They will be handed over to the Republican courts for trial.

The food situation is desperate.

In the last stages of the week's continuous battle a terrific combat was fought on the Abercorn road between troops and Sinn Feiners, machine guns being used freely.

ATTACK ON CATHOLIC.

Fearing a fresh attack on the Cathedral last night, a clergyman went into the street accompanied by a bodyguard. All were arrested by the government soldiers and taken to a barracks. The clergyman was later released, but his escort retained because they carried 300 rounds of ammunition. St. Columbus College is in the hands of the military. A severe rainstorm early yesterday helped to dampen the fighting ardor of the combatant factions.

Clergymen of all denominations had a conference today discussing plans to pacify the warring elements.

Distribution of rifles among Unionists is said to be continuing.

The commandant of the "Republican army" requested the city authorities to close the saloons.

British troops at Londonderry are patrolling all the streets.

Insane Veteran Crushes Skulls of Wife, Three More

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 26.—Nolan B. Robinson, 23, fugitive from an insane hospital at Elgin, Illinois, was captured here this morning and held on charges of attempting to murder his wife, their five months' old baby and his parents-in-law last night at Wheaton, near this city.

Robinson stabbed all four with a butcher knife, then crushed their skulls with an iron bar. Robinson was found sitting in a railroad station with his clothes covered with blood, calmly discussed the attempted murder and declared he was crazed by love for his child.

Wheaton police reported the injured victims cannot recover.

Robinson served four years in the navy and crossed eighteen times during the war. He was on the Cyclops when it was attacked by a German submarine in 1918.

Robinson was committed to the hospital May 5 last following repeated efforts to kill members of his family.

Insane Waiter Hacks Wife With Ax, Then Kills Self

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Becoming suddenly deranged, Peter Dergance, waiter, 45 years old, late last night attacked his sleeping wife with an ax and after fearfully hacking her body and crushing her skull he ran into the bathroom and took a fatal dose of poison. His wife is at the Franklin hospital and the physicians say she will die.

The groans of the woman as she was being chopped with the ax awakened the couple's 20-year-old son, who entered the bedroom in time to see his father deal several quick blows with the ax. Frightened by the entrance of his son, the crazed man rushed into the bathroom and when the police broke down the door they found his unconscious body on the floor and a vial of poison close by. He died a few minutes later.

The son told the police that he could assign no cause for his father's sudden insanity. He had been in good health and had exhibited no signs of depression.

Young Dergance returned home shortly after midnight and retired to his room. He had been asleep but a short time when he heard groans which prompted him to make an investigation.

The father was employed at the Alameda cafe and the family home was in 82 Eastwood drive, Westwood Park.

Further investigation about the house has led the police to believe that the father had been wandering around the house for some time before he attacked his sleeping wife. They believe he was attacked with a fit of insanity after going to bed and that he arose and went outside and obtained the ax. It is thought he would probably have next attacked his son had the latter not been awakened and entered the room, frightening him.

Four Oakland Youths Jailed As Burglars

SANTA ROSA, June 26.—Four Oakland youths, A. Burpee, W. E. Hyde, S. D. Bechdel and C. T. Williams, are in the county jail here charged with burglary at the William Lehn winery in Forestville.

While on their way to the Russian river on an outing the boys attempted to break into the winery, it is alleged. A burglar alarm aroused the neighborhood, and in a few minutes the winery was surrounded by farmers and residents of Forestville. Word was sent to Sheriff James Petray, at Santa Rosa, who came with two deputies.

The youths made a desperate effort to get away, but were rounded up in the winery, where there is stored 300,000 gallons of wine in the vaults.

ERROR IN BRIDGE PLANS, IS CLAIM

An error in the plans and specifications submitted by the supervisors of Sutter county for the construction of the substructure of a bridge, near Nicolaus, caused the successful bidder a loss of $63,988.79, according to the damage suit of the Clinton Construction Company against Sutter county to recover that amount, filed with County Clerk George Gross today.

The complaint asserts that the company bid $54,250 on the contract, stated that three borings had been based on the specifications which made and that the material in the river bed was coarse and, whereas it was discovered later to be quicksand and clay. This difference, the complaint declares, forced the company to expend $63,988.79, in addition to the amount bid, in completing the job. It is stated the Sutter county supervisors have rejected the claim. The contract was awarded in 1917. Interest on the amount from September 26, 1918, is also sought.

An excursion picnic will be given by "Bay Views," at Fernbrook Park, Niles Canyon, Sunday. Train leaves First and Broadway at 10 a. m. and returning leaves Fernbrook Park at 6:30 p. m.

MESERVE DRAWS OUT OF CONTEST FOR U. S. SENATE

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—E. A. Meserve, Los Angeles attorney, in a statement issued today, announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the United States Senate.

Meserve said he was "firmly convinced that if A. J. Wallace, former lieutenant-governor; William Kent, former representative; Samuel Shortridge and himself entered the race it would mean the nomination of Kent and the subsequent re-election of Senator Pheland."

RADICALS ENLISTED

"Whether of his seeking or not, I do not pretend to know," the statement read, "but Kent, generally speaking, does and will have the active support of the ultra radicals, including the radical support of the labor unions. A careful investigation and canvass will, I am sure, prove that, as a rule, those who are 'against the government,' those who believe in and advocate opposition to law and order, those who believe in and advocate labor union control and domination, and those who believe in the right of employees of the departments of the government and of public utilities to concertedly strike, and not only to strike, but to prevent others from taking the vacated places, will be found advocating Kent's nomination and election. This does not mean, nor it is intended to mean, that Kent is not receiving the support of many of the finest men and women in the State."

SOUTH SEEKS RECOGNITION

Meserve said that neither Shortridge nor he would receive an appreciable portion" of the votes of the "radical element," and added, "Kent cannot defeat Senator Phelan." He also said that, "As a matter of right" one of the United States Senators should "come from the southern half of the State."

Concluding, the statement read: "Firmly convinced that if Wallace, Shortridge, Kent and I all formally enter the race for the Reupublican nomination, it will result in the nomination of Kent and the subsequent election of Senator Phelan, I, as a California Republican, for these reasons which may concern the public and others with which it is not concerned, deem it my duty to go no further in seeking the Republican nomination for United States Senator from California."

WALLACE ENCOURAGED

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—A. J. Wallace, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, said, heer today the withdrawal of E. A. Meserve assured his nomination at the primary.

"This unites the south for me," he said. "Meserve and his friends are now solidly behind me. Among former members of his committee who have joined forces with me are Frank P. Flint, former United States Senator; George I. Cochran, Lee Phillips, Edward Adickson, editor of the Los Angeles Express, and John B. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison Company."

Ten Injured When Truck Hits Street Car

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Ten persons were injured, six seriously, when a motor truck met in collision with a street car at Twenty-second avenue and Third street today.

The six seriously injured are Edward Emerson, Louis Castro, John H. Atkinson and John Finlan, Tognozzi and Fred Shaw, all of San Francisco.

Boy Is Injured by Fall From Porch

Falling fifteen feet from the porch of his parents' home at 6502 East Fourteenth street, George Barnes, 19-months-old, miraculously escaped death last evening, receiving only bruises on the back and head and a cut lip. After treatment at the emergency hospital the infant was returned to his home.

BULLET STORM FLIES IN NIGHT STREET BATTLE

A pitched gun battle between a burglar and Patrolman Daniel Tuma occurred at Second avenue and East Twelfth street at 3 o'clock this morning. Dozens of shots were exchanged, the fight becoming a running one, which lasted for several blocks. The burglar, after making a final stand behind a telephone pole, dashed across the street, leaped a fence and escaped.

Patrolman Tuma was walking his beat when he heard glass break. He saw a man crawling out of a window at the Union Oil Company's station at Second avenue and East Twelfth street. The policeman called, but the man ran down the street. Tuma opened fire. The burglar retaliated. More than a score of shots were fired. Tuma firing from behind garbage cans and telephone poles, the burglar running from protection to protection to turn and fire.

No one came to Tuma's assistance, although windows were opened and closed quickly. Several shots struck buildings, but no one was injured.

It was found that the burglar had broken open the cash register at the oil station with a wrench and escaped with several dollars in change.

CAFE MEN PLAN TO LOWER FOOD

Restaurant men who declared Tuesday that they would raise the price of meals in order to meet the demands of the cooks' and waiters' unions for a wage increase, announced today that a plan is under way which they hope will enable them to reduce the price of meals even below that which was being charged when the wage increase was granted.

At a meeting last night of the restaurant and cafe men, Samuel Benrimo, proprietor of a restaurant on Twelfth street near Broadway, suggested that the newly formed association of restaurateurs buy in large quantities and avoid middlemen's profits. The matter was discussed at length, with the result that another meeting will be held the first of the week to complete plans which will enable the local association to buy in large quantities direct from the producers.

Restaurant men say that if the new plan goes through, they are confident that means can be served at a price much less than is being charged.

His Broken Romance Fatal to L. A. Youth

ITHACA, N. Y., June 26.—Ccott Thornberg, 21, Los Angeles, junior in the Cornell law school, died in a hospital here today from a self-inflicted bullet wound. It was alleged Thornberg shot himself following disappointment in love.

Nation's Premier Ace Will Sweep Oakland Skies

"EDDIE" RICKENBACKER

Chooses Italian Plane to Fly From Durant Field On Sunday Afternoon.

The Municipal band will give its concert at Durant field tomorrow instead of at Lakeside park. Paul Steindorff will direct.

Eddie Rickenbacher, former captain in the air service and America's premier ace, with twenty-six German planes to his credit, has chosen a Ballela plane, formerly used in the Italian army, to fly in tomorrow afternoon for the entertainment of Oakland residents. Rickenbacher is visiting Cliff Durant and will take off from Durant field at Eighty-second avenue, near East Fourteenth street.

Rickenbacher will demonstrate air strategy as used in combat work and will perform some of the stunts with which he used to fool the Germans. No admission will be charged to the field.

GUEST AT LUNCHEON.

Rickenbacher was the honor guest at a luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Oakland and in a speech he said that Oakland is the logical terminus for a great transcontinental air transportation and mail service route. Absence of fog and the [illegible] wonderful sites for landing fields, he said, made Oakland the best fitted.

This country, he declared, is lagging behind European countries in the matter of aerial development along commercial lines. Because of the climatic conditions and the lack of so complete a system of communication as enjoyed in the East, he predicted that develoument of commercial aviation will start in the West and go eastward.

GOOD PILOTS NEED

"Greater care must be exercised by commercial air transportation companies in the selection of pilots," the speaker said. He continued:

"Legislation must be enacted to prohibit stunt performers and the so-called "airobats" from performing their acts as close as 500 feet above cities. The danger to lives below is too great; if anything happens in this case the pilot has no chance to straighten out his machine."

FIRE DESTROYS PENINSULA HOTEL AT SAN MATEO

SAN MATEO, Cal., June 26.—The Peninsula Hotel here, summer home of many wealthy Californians, is in ruins today, destroyed by fire that caused damage of more than half a million dollars.

Crossed wires caused the blaze. No one was injured. The hotel was built ten years ago at a cost of $400,000.

The work of fighting the flames was greatly handicapped owing to the lack of sufficient apparatus and water pressure. Additional apparatus was rushed here from Burlingame, Redwood City, Hillsborough and San Francisco. From the latter city a truck, two engines and several companies were sent by Fire Chief Murphy, who responded to the call sent by Mrs. John L. McGinn, police and fire commissioner of San Mateo.

Many of the guests at the hotel were wealthy residents of San Francisco who were spending the summer here. Some of them lost nearly all of their clothing and considerable jewelry.

A fireman endeavored to save some guest's trunk by throwing it from the second story. When the trunk hit the ground there was a crash like that of breaking glass and a little stream commenced to trickle from the shattered trunk. Someone's store of liquor was gone.

The hotel had been closed and opened on several occasions in an effort to make it a going concern. An interest had recently been purchased by J. F. Douglas and Al Herbert of San Francisco.

Flour Declines As Wheat Goes Down

MINNEAPOLIS, June 26.—Flour dropped 30 to 50 cents a barrel at the mills here today. The decline was due to a sharp break in the wheat market yesterday.

"A Professional Wage

To equal the tax rate of 1913 in buying power, Oakland's rate today should be $6.53 instead of $4.88. The cost of running a city has increased like everything else. Your teachers are paying in inadequate salaries for your tax economies.

"A Professional Wage

By way of contrast: Oakdale, California pays a maximum of $2600 a year to high school teachers and Oakland pays a maximum of $2160. Many other cities in California are paying better salaries than Oakland.

FOREMAN HOWARD, OF OAKS, HAS HIS PRUNING KNIFE HANDY

EXPERTS DISAGREE OVER ORTEGA-O'DOWD DRAW DECISION AT MILWAUKIE THURSDAY NIGHT

EDDIE SPELLMAN MAY BE CATCHER SLATED TO RECEIVE TINWARE

Brubaker, New Infielder, Will Arrive Tonight —Ty Cobb Doesn't Need Practice to Hit

By EDDIE MURPHY

Ray "Red" Brubaker, the infielder secured by the Oaks, will arrive in Oakland tonight, and if the newcomer feels that he is fit to play, he may be seen in one of the games tomorrow. The arrival of Brubaker, who has been playing with the St. Joseph club of the Western League, but who was the property of the Detroit Tigers, means that Manager Del Howard has prepared the pruning shears and will put them to use, maybe tonight. At least one branch is going to be lopped from the Oak tree. Del said last night that even with Brubaker on the job the Oaks would be under the player limit, as George (Lefty) Winn is on the injured list.

It will be one of the three catchers to feel the closing of the shears, said Del Howard. Honus Mitze will be ready to get into the game tomorrow and Howard will have no more need for three catchers on his staff. Charley Dorman, the kid catcher who returned to the Oaks last Wednesday and broke into the lineup with a bang, is likely to be kept as Mitze's helpmate and Eddie Spellman shipped elsewhere. Howard thinks that the short while which Dorman spent with the Sioux City club in the Western league has made a Coast league catcher out of him. By finishing the season as the Oaks' second string catcher, Dorman ought to be one of the best backstops in the league next season. He has all the ntural ability. His throws to the bases are on the order of Sam Agnew's. Of course we are not trying to class the kid with Sam, for the Seal catcher is too far experienced. Dorman takes a nice even cut at the ball when standing to the plate and when he connects the ball usually travels on a line.

The work of Spellman has been sort of a disappointment to local fandom. Eddie came here from the Western league with a reputation as a .320 hitter for the Omaha club. For the Oaks Spellman is barely hitting over the .200 mark, while his work behind the plate has not been of the kind that holds catchers in this league. Maybe the change of scenery and climate doesn't agree with Eddie.

The Vernon Tigers have only Scotty Alcock as relief man for DeVormer and it wouldn't be a surprise if Manager Howard tried to cook some deal with Manager Bill Essick to ship one of his catchers over on Bill. Essick wired to Charley Dorman last spring when he heard that the kid was to be shipped to the Western league, but Charley went out of this league on the promise of Howard that he would soon be back. Essick thinks that Dorman has the makings of a big league catcher and he wouldn't slip up on a chance to land him.

The Oaks leave tomorrow night on a three weeks' road trip. Mayne Howard has another release or two in mind to make before leaving. With one catcher out of the way, the club will be pretty evenly supplied with talent, but not the best talent in the world. Lane, Wille, Miller and Cooper are the four outfielders. [illegible] Arlett, [illegible] Fitzsimmons and Knight are the infielders, which leaves one for utility. Whether Howard will carry a utility man is doubtful, as Tommy Fitzsimmons joined the club with the understanding that he would help out until the Oaks got some help from the east.

Manager Del Howard and Denny Wille were talking on the bench about players who always cry when they are cheated out of their turn in batting practice. Del was telling how sometimes Ty Cobb only connects with the ball once in batting practice and then announces that he is ready to start in the game. Sometimes Ty doesn't take any practice at all, and goes out and hits the ball as well as if he had trained his eyes on the ball before the game. One time they had to hold the game up for ten minutes because Cobb was late in coming from the clubhouse, and Howard says that he banged out a couple of hits that day. Del and Wille were trying to figure if the batting practice before the game really does a player any good. Anyway Denny Wille doesn't intend to let any batter cheat him out of his turn in practice.

The University of California baseball team which made a tour of the eastern states, will arrive home this evening, and probably the first one to be looked for at the depot by the welcoming gang will be Russ Ellison. Out at California reports have been received that Ellison will not return with the team, as he signed a contract with the Boston Braves and remained east. Graduate Manager Lute Nichols couldn't get the report confirmed. The California team met with much success, winning sixteen out of twenty-one games. Ellison lost only one of the games he worked in. He twirled the Berkeleyans to a win over Harvard.

SHIPBUILDERS TO BOX

Bunker Whipped Again

DID ORTEGA BEAT MIKE?

By BOB SHAND.

The next boxing show in this vicinity will be staged by the Bay Cities Shipyard Athletic Association at the auditorium next Tuesday night. Eight bouts that will be real fights have been signed up and the matchmaker promises the customers action galore. Bill Shafer of the Moore shipyard is so tough that the other plants are combing the yards for somebody to lick him. They have a number of prospective candidates and they do say that impromptu try-outs are being held every night. From heavyweights the fighters range down to fly-weights. In addition to the box-fighting events there will be an indoor baseball game, a wrestling match and a tug-o'-war. Bands will furnish music and there will be a number of added features.

Did the Right Hon. B. Ortega get all that was coming to him when Denver Ed Martin called the O'Dowd fight a draw?

From this distance the decision seems fair enough but according to Lou Kennedy, sporting editor of the Portland Telegram and a well known boxing critic, it was only O'Dowd's prestige that saved him from defeat. Kennedy has been looking 'em over for a long time and he thinks the decision should have gone to the local boy. Dick Sharp, the Oregonian expert, declares Ortega got a little the best of it for Denver Ed Sharp gives the Battler but one round, the fourth.

Wait till that carload of colored sports from West Oakland hit town and then you'll hear something. These birds went north loaded for bear and they got two to one for their money. Everything went in on the Battler, return trip tickets and the rest. Had the Battler received the nod from the referee it is a cinch that the Point would have been lit up like a torch for about a week. The twenty sports who went north to witness the battle acted as betting commissioners for about a thousand others who couldn't make the trip. That's why the sporting editor's 'phone was completely worn out yesterday.

The TRIBUNE, incidentally, was the only paper about the bay to cover the fight in detail. The experts of both the Portland Oregonian and the Portland Telegram were on the job for The TRIBUNE at the ringside and their stories appeared in yesterday's paper.

Harlan Bunker did a little better last night than he did Wednesday when he was lucky to get a draw with Hugh Walker. Bunker was licked by K. O. Kruvosky at Dreamland Rink last evening, but he showed that he can fight a bit at times. Bunker had every physical advantage over Kruvosky but the latter's gameness and experience proved too much for Parente's youngster.

"Speedball" Hayden, the colored wonder from the wilds of Texas, made good in his first start here. Hayden was paired off with the tough Steve Dalton and gave Steven a terrible whaling. The fact that he was knocked down twice in the first round worried Hayden not a bit. He just fought harder and soon had the Dalton boy on the run.

Danny Malone knocked out Willie Lancaster in the second round and Harry Eagles and Frankie Howard split even. Tim Kelly licked Ed McGovern, a Seattle pug, all the way.

Homer Smith, an eastern heavyweight, has been imported for the purpose of entertaining some of the local heavyweight material in the ring. He has started training across the bay.

K. O. Bill Freeman is reported signed by the "Allies" of Dreamland Rink for a series of bouts. Dempsey, Miske, Harry Greb and others have licked Brennan but Bill is a pretty fair scrapper at that.

Joe Leopold wants to box Jimmy Dundee or Frankie Malone, preferably Mr. Dundee.

Joe Herman, the champion of the Valley, left for Los Angeles today where he meets Gastine at the Vernon arena Tuesday night. Joe should get there in time "Fightwayin'." Manager Levy is already in the south.

DID BAT ORTEGA REALLY DEFEAT MR. O'DOWD?

By LOU KENNEDY,
Sporting Editor Portland Telegram.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 25.—The only thing which saved Mike O'Dowd from losing a decision to Battling Henry Ortego at the Milwaukee arena was prestige. Had he not been a former champion, who had lost his title via the questionable decision route and still been regarded as the real holder of the title here in the northwest Ortega would now be the middleweight champion of the world. For ten rounds Ortega and O'Dowd battled [illegible] toe, neither giving an inch, neither asking for nor giving quarters. Ortega, following his customary style of defense kept rushing in head down, taking most of O'Dowd's punches on his back or on his well trimmed pompadour. At no time except possibly in the fifth round did O'Dowd have a shade. Then it appeared as if Mike's continual boring in had worn the Oakland battler down. In the sixth, however, he came back and forced the fighting as he did in the majority of rounds. As far as science went it was a thing forgotten by both fighters. It appeared as if O'Dowd made a mistake in not trying to stand off and box his opponent. Undoubtedly more clever than the boy from Mexico, Mike, considering himself yet champion of the world at his weight, refused to give an inch and when he saw that Ortega wanted to slug, tried to outgame him at his own game. He didn't know Ortega as well as the people on the coast know him.

BOTH FIGHT HARD.

Round after round went by with the battling Mexican tearing in, his head down, arms encircled around his black hair protecting his jaw, swapping punch for punch with O'Dowd. The majority of the rounds were even, both boxers trying to force the issue, their punches being either blocked or countered. It looked at the finish as if Ortega was the stronger as he rushed O'Dowd into a corner and was pummelling him with rights and left when the round ended. Denver Ed Martin who refereed all of the bouts, gave his decision which was well received. There were no spectacular features about the battle, no knockdowns or especially hard punches. It was a case of two fighters trying to wear each other down, neither succeeding.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

Good thing that our Oaks won yesterday's combat with the Angels. The Seattle Rainiers came through with a 5 to 1 win over the Beavers. The Coyotes lost to the Salt Lake Bees, 6 to 2, which leaves them to fear more than the Oaks that they are slated for a visit to the basement.

The Seals dropped another one to the Vernon Tigers, the score being 4 to 3. One thing is sure—the Seals cannot hit the second division before they return home to open a series with the Salt Lake Bees next Tuesday.

It sure was a disastrous road trip the Seals had. Sam Lewis has been about as useful to them on the road as Slim Love was when the Seals were at home. Now Slim is doing the winning on the road.

George (Lefty) Winn, the Oakland pitcher who had his jawbone broken by being hit by a batted ball by Blue, is out of the hospital but will not be allowed to remove the support from his face until another month. George is a happy-go-lucky guy. He just grins and says that it might have been worse.

And what do you think? Babe Ruth hit two homers yesterday, but the New York Yanks failed to win from the Red Sox. Maybe the reason—Ping Bodie failed to get a hit, and so did Bobby Meusel.

The Oaks, Coyotes and Seattle are not so bad after all. The Philadelphia Athletics lost their sixteenth straight game when the St. Louis Browns defeated them, 10 to 6. Sixteen wins out of sixty-one games is the record of the Athletics.

Wonder what Manager Clyde Wares of the Seattle club thinks about Ray French being purchased from the Des Moines club of the Western league by the New York Yanks for $5000. French is the Alameda youngster who played the infield for Seattle last season. Ray has a brother named "Ace" who is now playing on the sand lots and looks like a comer.

Once again we cry that Sam Agnew is not the whole Seal team. In the eighth inning yesterday Sam made a wild heave that allowed the winning run to cross the plate for the Tigers.

Buz Arlett Wins Another From Angels

Russell (Buz) Arlett pitched his second straight win in four days over the Angels, and is once more being classed as the workhorse of the Oakland pitching staff. Buz went out on the mound at Recreation park yesterday afternoon and pitched just as though he hadn't been on the mound since last week. It was only last Tuesday that Buz stepped out and twirled the locals to a win over the Angels and his appearance on the mound yesterday almost stunned the cash customers. Buz was nicked for ten hits by the Angels, but nevertheless he pitched a good game of ball and his teammates finished on the long end of a 6-to-3 score. Curley Brown was on the hill for the Angels and the southpaw heaved the balls up to the plate just as the Oaks liked them to be when men were on the bases. The Oaks got eight hits off the Angel southpaw, but made almost everyone of them count.

One of these hits was a four-ply smash over the right field wall by Larry (Hack) Miller, the Oaks big left fielder, when Claude Cooper was resting on second base in the first inning after he had beat out a hit and was sacrificed along by Wille. Hack's hit was one of the longest over the right field fence. It was his second to be driven over by a right-handed batter since the high screen was erected at the start of last season.

That two-run lead was a good starter for Buz and Buz added another run in the second when he singled. Cooper and Wile walked and Miller was safe when McAuley attempted to throw the ball and it slipped from his hand. Griggs' single, Crawford's double, an infield out by Bassler and Ellis' single gave the Angels two in the fourth. Buz Arlett again scored for the Oaks in their half of the fourth when he singled to center, Cooper sacrificed, Wille lifted a long fly to Crawford and Hack Miller again delivered in the pinch. Griggs' single and Crawford's triple with one on gave the Angels their last run in the eighth. With two out in the Oaks' half Pop Arlett singled, Buz was safe at second on McAuley's boot and Cooper drove a hit through Crandall for two more runs.

Americans Win Doubles Event At Wimbleton

WIMBLEDON, June 26 (By the Associated Press.) — William M. Johnston of California and Wm. T. Tilden of Philadelphia, the American Davis cup pair, defeated Andre Gobert and Wm. M. Laurentz of the French Davis cup team, in their match in the British championship tournament. The scores: 6-2, 6-0, 4-6, 9-7.

C. S. Garland of Pittsburg won his way through the fourth round of the British lawn tennis championship tournament here today. He met A. S. Drew, an English player, and scored a comparatively easy victory in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1.

Garland played a sound game, revealing a form greatly in advance of that which he displayed at the Queens club tournament last week.

The two other American survivors, William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, and R. Norris Williams II of Boston were likewise expected to make their way through this round into the last eight.

In the second round of the mixed doubles championship, Gerald T. Paterson of Australia, the present holder of the British singles title, and Mlle. Susanne Lenglen of France, winner of the British woman's championship last year, defeated the American pair, C. S. Garland and Mrs. [F]ranklin Mallory (Molla Bjurstedt), 6-0, 6-3.

Russ Ellison Will Pitch for Boston

Russ Ellison, pitcher for the University of California nine, will not return west with the team. According to a letter received in Oakland Ellison has signed to pitch for the Boston Braves. Russ lost only one game while east with the U. C. team.

Bates and Levy in Tennis Semi-Finals

WILMINGTON, Del., June 26.—Wallace J. Bates and Edmund Levy, University of California, reached the semi-final round in the doubles for the Delaware State Lawn Tennis title yesterday by eliminating Marshal Vannemann, and Eberett Howell of Philadelphia, 7-5, 6-2. Dean Mathey, former Princeton star, defeated Paul Vannemann, Philadelphia. In the semi-final round in singles, 6-3, 6-2.

BABE RUTH ALMOST CERTAIN TO BREAK HOME-RUN RECORD

Has 87 Games in Which to Collect Eight More Homers; Hit Two Yesterday.

CHICAGO, June 26.—"Babe" Ruth, the New York slugger, today has eighty-seven games in which to wallop out eight home runs to shatter the record of twenty-nine established by himself last season when a member of the Boston Americans.

In his remarkable drive toward a new world's record, Ruth crashed out his twentieth homer Wednesday and hit two more yesterday.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who led the American League, at the end of Wednesday's games, boosted his average to .416, eight points within a week. Tris Speaker of Cleveland managed to cling to second place with .384. Speaker tops the league in scoring, having counted 57 runs in 58 games. Ruth has crossed the plate 55 times in 54 games.

Rice, of Washington, is running away with honors in base stealing. He has stolen 25, while Bobby Roth, his team mate, is next in line with 19. Sisler is third with 15.

Other leading batters: Johnson, Cleveland, .362; Milan, Washington, .359; Weaver, Chicago, .352; Felsch, Chicago, .342; Jacobson, St. Louis, .341; Judge, Washington, .339; Rice, Washington, .335; Hendryx, Boston, .338.

St. Louis, which has been clamoring for baseball distinction for years, is finding solace in the batting performances of Sisler and Roger Hornsby. Hornsby is in no immediate danger of being ousted from the batting leadership of the National league, the averages, including Wednesday's game, giving him .391. Nicholson of Pittsburgh is trailing him in second [illegible] is third with .337.

Hornsby and Robertson of Chicago are giving Cy Williams of Philadelphia a close race for home run honors. Williams has belted out seven while the St. Louis star and Robertson have made six each.

CAREY SETTING PACE

Max Carey of Pittsburgh is setting the pace for the base stealers, having a total of 19. Roush of Cincinnati and Hollocher of Chicago are next up with 14 each.

Other leading batters: Robertson, Chicago, .335; Daubert, Cincinnati, .333; Smith, New York, .333; Flack, Chicago, .325; Duncan, Cincinnati, .323; Kelley, New York, .312; Myers, Brooklyn, .317; Young, New York, .316; Groh, Cincinnati, .311.

Batting honors of the American Association continue to rest with Ben Tincup, the Indian pitcher with Louisville, who in 37 games cracked out 29 hits for an average of .420. Del Gainor, the Milwaukee first baseman, is in second place with .386.

Rapp of St. Paul stole eight bases in seven games and passed Leo Dressen, his team mate for the honors in this department, with a total of 25. Dressen has 22 thefts. Miller of St. Paul tied Brief of Kansas City for home run honors, each having seven. Wade of Minneapolis has six.

Other leading batters: Wickland, Toledo, .383; Hartley, Columbus, .371; Wade, Minneapolis, .355; Butler, Milwaukee, .347; Rapp, St. Paul, .338; Henry, Columbus, .337; Good, Kansas City, .326; Wolfer, Columbus, .324.

LEADS WESTERN

Brannen of Tulsa shot to the front in the race for the batting leadership of the Western league with an average of .385. Bogart of Joplin is second with .370. Bogart also is pressing Lee of Omaha for honors in base stealing. Lee with 16 has a lead of one.

Beck, the Wichita slugger, bagged a brace of home runs and went into a tie with Yeryan, also of Wichita, for the lead in circuit drives. Each has connected with ten homers.

Other leading batters: Yaryan, Wichita, .360; Kreuger, Joplin, .358; Pitt, Oklahoma City, .346, Shestak, St. Joseph, .340; O'Connor, Des Moines, .339; Conroy, St. Joseph, .335; Beck, Wichita, .332; Moeller, Oklahoma City, .329.

Return Games Features on Bush Program

The Richmond Elks will travel to Petaluma tomorrow to play the Petaluma nine, which failed to make a very good showing against the Elks in the opening game of their series at the Richmond ball park last Sunday. With the Elks leaving town it means that the parks at San Leandro and Alameda are going to be pretty well patronized by the bush fans tomorrow. And the chances are that these fans will be well rewarded for their trip to either town, as the Best Tractors are slated for a return game with the California Cotton Mills nine, while at Lincoln Park in Alameda the Halton-Didiers and Goat Island Sailors are to meet in a return game also. The Vallejo fans are also in line for a good treat, as the American Legion team has been engaged by Manager Tom Sullivan to play his Mare Island Shipbuilders at Beach park.

The Sailors of Goat Island will have their band along when they visit at Alameda tomorrow and promise to get revenge for the 8 to 6 defeat the Dalton-Didiers slipped them in a game about a month ago. The sailors played at San Leandro last Sunday but claim the San Leandro folks fooled them by giving them too many cherries to eat and they were unable to play their best baseball against the Tractors. There is always a good time assured wherever the sailor boys play. Blakely or Sample will twirl for the sailors, while Lane Shultis and Al Ross will be the Halton-Didiers battery. The game will start at 2:30.

BARBECUE AT SAN LEANDRO

The fans who arrive at the San Leandro ball park before the usual starting time of 2:30 will be allowed to get in on the barbecue which will be held near the ball park about 1:30. The ball game is to be one of the features of the Holy Ghost celebration to be held at that town, and the committee has invited the fans to get in on the good time. Fans outside of San Leandro are welcome to get in on all the stunts to take place. In the evening there will be dancing on the streets.

The game itself is quite an attraction and fans from East Oakland are going to be there as strong as will those of San Leandro. The Cotton Millers lost the first game to the Tractors by a 6 to 5 score, the winning run crossing the plate on a freak pitch by Jack Killilay, which caused the ball to hit the home rubber and bounce out of the park. This time Frenchie LaCloustra, the Millers' best bet, will be on the hill for them, while Heinie Lay will work for the Tractors.

A record attendance is expected at the Vallejo park as the whole town of Vallejo is boosting for the game because the American Legion team of that district is to clash with the Shipbuilders. The Vallejo fans look to the Mare Island workers as their home club and have had lots of reason to rave over them because of the success they have had since the start of the season, but the Shipbuilders are likely to find some of their best admirers rooting against them tomorrow. The Shipbuilders will be represented by their usual lineup, with Ballie Wellingham doing the pitching. The American Legion Essex far for the rehabilitation of returned service men will be given away at the park immediately following the game.

Alvarado and Hazard will be the American Legion battery, with West, Peterson and Fitzgerald forming the outfield. Marshall, 2b; Gowan, ss; Zackney, 1b, and Tineron, 3b, will be the infield.

The J. H. Wilkens club of Alameda was forced to remain idle last Sunday. Tomorrow they will clash with the Granat Bros. club, who won the championship of the San Francisco Midwinter League. Both clubs have been winning consistently and a good game is promised. The game will be staged at the Golden Gate grounds at Sixtieth and San Pablo and is scheduled to start at 3:30 sharp.

Harry Moore or Lefty Klein will hurl for Wilkens with Thompson on the receiving end. Larry Reeves, former star of the Midwinter League, will be on the mound for the Granats.

Coursing Gossip

Some of the canines at the Emeryville coursing park have been making fast time in trials this week and some exciting contests tomorrow are expected.

The feature event of the program will be the Al Jolson handicap over the Eclipse course. A dark horse ought to win this one.

The mechanical rabbit has been rebuilt from the one glass eye that was left of the "animal" after Steam Roller and a few other bow-wows caught up with Bunny last Sunday.

Frank Anderson has succeeded O. P. Smith as manager of the local track. Smith has gone to San Diego to install a racing plant there which will be conducted by the local company.

SING SPECIALISTS TREAT NEURITIS

The celebrated Sing Herb Treatments are wonderfully adapted to the treatment of neuritis—inflammation of the nerves, that is the cause of severe pains and sore spots across the back, the shoulders and other portions of the body.

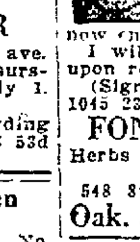

Sing Herbs purify the blood cleansing it of impurities injected into it by organs that are functioning improperly. They prevent further similar secretions by restoring the organs to normal.

With the system thus cleaned out, the inflammation of the nerves is reduced and the symptoms of neuritis disappear.

MUST SELL MY
1-3 of an Acre

My husband went East and now has a good job and wants me to come back there. We bought this 1-3 acre while he was here. It is near schools for the children, and stores, and only a short distance from street cars and only 25 minutes from City Hall. I raised chickens, rabbits, and vegetables on this 1-3 acre and sold all I could raise, while my husband worked in the Shipyard. Now I want to sell it and will accept any reasonable offer. My boy will show you the land if you will mail your name and address to Box 5028, Tribune.

STATE NEWS

PETALUMA, June 26.—Mrs. John Greenberg, who lives near this city, is suffering from severe bruises and a broken shoulder-blade as the result of being thrown from a wagon while she was driving along the middle Two Rock road. She attempted to negotiate a turn on the road with the vehicle and one of the wheels struck the bank, causing the wagon to overturn.

BODY IS FOUND.

BAKERSFIELD, June 26.—Badly decomposed and with no other means of identification except naturalization papers found in his pocket, the body of Andrew Brandberg, 45 years of age, was found floating in Kern river here. The body was discovered by Albert and Lee Norman as the youths were picking blackberries on the banks of the river.

POLICEMAN INDICTED.

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—E. H. Harris, member of the Sacramento police department, has been reindicted by the Sacramento county grand jury on a charge of soliciting a bribe to protect a proprietor of a local resort from arrest for selling intoxicating liquors. The first indictment against Harris was found to be faulty.

RICE PROSPECTS GOOD.

MARYSVILLE, June 26.—R. E. Riley, manager of the Pacific Rice Growers' Association, who has made a thorough inspection of the rice districts of Sutter, Yuba, Colusa, Glenn and Butte counties, stated that the prospects were most encouraging for this time of the year and that if nothing happens to injure the crops, that the yield this year would eclipse that of former years in spite of the dry season. He stated that while the rice in all five counties was looking well, he believed the best crop would come from Glenn county.

GRAPE PRICES LARGE.

YUBA CITY, June 26.—Wine grape growers in Sutter county are receiving record prices for the green grapes, several contracts being signed already by growers at $50 a ton for green grapes, which is double the price pair last year by the fruit jobbers. Other growers are holding out for higher prices and believe they will get them before the crop matures. Several ranchers who were about to grub up their wine grape vineyards and replant to Thompson seedless or to peaches, have decided to keep on raising the wine grape product as long as prices remain high.

THEFT LAID TO U. S. DRY AGENTS

Charging that Federal revenue officers had stolen $600 in currency from its hiding place in his soft-drink establishment during a booze raid on his place last Monday, Joseph Oliver, 536 Adeline street, is today seeking to obtain warrants for the [illegible] the Federal district attorney in San Francisco.

Oliver appeared before Captain of Inspectors James Drew yesterday afternoon with his story of the theft of the $600. After investigating the story, however, the prosecuting attorneys refused to issue warrants for the arrest of the revenue officers.

Oliver says that six revenue officers came into his place of business at Seventh and Wood streets last Monday night, flashed their stars and proceeded to search the place. Two of them, according to Oliver, searched the loft where the money was hidden in the wall. No one else, he claims, could have taken the money.

A quantity of liquor was seized during the raid and the bartender, Arthur Terra, 1389 Seventh street, was arrested.

Hays Asked to Have Harding Tour West

NEW YORK, June 26.—Chances of cinching a Republican victory in the Far West in November would be materially strengthened if the Republican national committee would send the candidate on a speaking tour of the Pacific coast states, according to Samuel Platt, prominent Nevada Republican, who conferred with National Chairman Will H. Hays today. Platt told Hays that public opinion in Nevada, normally a Democratic state, had undergone a wing toward Republicanism in the last six months.

Elmer Dover, Tacoma, yesterday told campaign heads that Pacific coast Republicans wished Harding to make the trip.

Mrs. Roche Freed, Is Arrested Again

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—A few minutes after a jury in the court of Superior Judge Michael Roche had acquitted Mrs. Agnes Hunter of alleged assult with intent to commit murder in connection with the shooting of her husband, William Hunter, a warrant was issued charging the woman with grnd larceny. E. D. Milligan, a cigar store clerk, alleged Mrs. Hunter had stolen a ring valued at $150 from his hotel room several months ago. Mrs. Hunter shot and slightly wounded her former husband while they were dining in the Palace Hotel. One trial ended in a disagreement. In the second trial today the jury was out twenty minutes.

Pickpockets Busy; Two Are Victims

Pickpockets operating on the downtown streets last night stole $85 from Anso Barron, 735 Waverly street, Palo Alto, according to his report to the police. Barron says he was standing at Twelfth and Broadway looking in a window when several men crowded about him. A moment later he missed his purse.

Frank Schultze, 3750 Laguna avenue, reported the loss of $11, which was taken from his pocket.

White Star Line Pensions Capt. Finch

NEW YORK, June 26.—Captain William Finch, senior captain of the White Star line fleet and for forty-six years a seaman, took the steamer Baltic out for Liverpool today on his last voyage as "skipper." He will be retired on pension at Liverpool. Captain Finch received the order of the British Empire from King George for his services during the war. His ship took General Pershing and his staff to France in 1917.

PERJURY CHARGE LOOMS; DIVORCE DECREE NULLED

Announcing that a representative of the district attorney's office would be on hand on the day of rehearing to determine who was committing perjury, Judge Dudley Kinsell granted the [illegible] of Mrs. Leola M. Stone [illegible] aside the decree by which [illegible] P. Stone, locomotive engineer for the Southern Pacific, obtained a divorce by default, with custody of three young children.

This drastic action on the part of the court was the result of witnesses giving entirely different versions of the circumstances concerning the serving of the divorce papers upon the wife. Mrs. Stone declared she and the children were sick at the time of service; that she hardly read the papers, and further that the process-server had told her that she would retain possession of the children in case she did not contest the suit.

On the other hand, R. G. Moore, the process-server and a former friend of the family, declared Mrs. Stone seemed in good health when he served the papers, that he read the entire contents to her and, further, warned her that unless she contested the suit and had an attorney file an answer within ten days her husband would win the decree and the children. He declared further that Mrs. Stone had told him at the time that she did not care and said:

"Why should I fight it? I am tickled to death to get rid of him. I have a better man ready to take his place."

In setting aside the decree Judge Kinsell gave Mrs. Stone ten days in which to file an answer and cross-complaint.

TAX INITIATIVE PETITION FILED

An initiative petition signed by more than 5000 voters of the East-bay cities was filed this morning with County Clerk Gross requesting that there be submitted to the voters of the State at the next general election a proposed constitutional amendment effecting in future the use of initiative in favor of legislation relating to the assessment or collection of taxes.

This measure is entitled, "Initiative Measure Amending Article IV, Section 1, of Constitution." It provides for an increase in the number of signatures of qualified electors to initiative petitions presented to the secretary of state under that section when such petition relates to assessment or collection of taxes, be 25 percent from 8 percent thereof as now required. It makes no other substantial change in the section.

Similar petitions are being filed in all the counties in California. The movement was fostered by the Anti-Single Tax Association of California, and the petition filed today in this county was handled by the Alameda county committee of that organization. Stuart S. Hawley is chairman and R. Porter Giles, secretary of that committee.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 26.—Declines in the price of corn resulted today from definite announcement by the railway labor board that a wage award retroactive to May 1 would be made on or before July 20. The announcement was taken by many traders as meaning improved efficiency in traffic operations from now on. Opening prices, which varied from ¼ to 1c lower, with July 174 to 174¾, and September 166¾ to 167½, were followed by an upturn that in some cases went above yesterday's finish.

Later the market scored a material advance because of week-end covering by shorts. The close was firm, 1c to 3⅜c net higher, with July 176⅜ to 176½, and September 169¾ to 169⅞. September pork, 35.77. Lard, July 20.42; September 21.47. Ribs, July 18.02; September 19.12.

After opening unchanged to ½c higher, including September 84¾ to 85, oats continued to ascend. Lard and ribs were firmer with hogs.

Corn No. 2 mixed 178@178¾; No. 2 yellow 179@179½. Rye, No. 2, 229. Barley, 141@148. Timothy seed, 10.00@12.00. Clover seed 25.00@35.00.

TRADE DULLNESS IS CARRIED OVER ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 26.—The week end session of the stock market began with a continuance of yesterday's dullness and irregularity. Advances and declines at the outset were limited to the smallest fractions but the tone improved later on moderate buying of oils, steels and chemicals. Mexican Petroleum, Crucible Steel and National Analine featured the better tendency of the first half hour. Announcement was made of the arrival of $3,250,000 gold from South Africa via London, consigned to an international banking house.

The attendance of members was unusually small and commission houses reported an absolute cessation of outside interest. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 233 shares. Exchange on London showed no material alteration, despite further gold arrivals from that center.

Liberty bonds final prices were, 3½s 91.50; first 4s 85.50 bid, second 4s 85.10, first 4¼s 86.10, second 4¼s 85.26, third 4¼s 88.80, fourth 4¼s 85.52; Victory 3¾s 95.58; Victory 4¾s 95.64.

Liner Is Due With $30,000,000 in Gold

NEW YORK, June 26.—A $30,000,000 cargo of South African gold, consigned to the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb and Company, is aboard the steamer Mauretania, scheduled to dock here today. The metal was purchased in the London open market last week.

Woman Jumps Eleven Stories to Her Death

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Grief because she believed the courts would take from her her three children was responsible for the death of Mrs. Emma Bleistein, authorities today were convinced.

Mrs. Bleistein was in a room adjoining the Juvenile Court late yesterday when attorneys were arguing an action to give the three Bleistein children into the probation officer's custody.

While an attendant's back was turned, Mrs. Bleistein leaped from the window, falling eleven stories, and was probably dead before she struck the ground.

Charges that Mrs. Bleistein had attempted to poison her husband were the basis for the effort to take the children from under her care.

College Would Give City Health Center

Petition for the conveyance to the Public Health Center of Alameda County of buildings and land at Grove and Thirty-first streets has been made to the superior court by the Oakland College of Medicine and Surgery. Until a year ago the property was used as a medical school.

The property is offered on the condition that the buildings be used to maintain a permanent health center. Failure in this purpose would cause the property to revert to the present owners.

The site for more than a year has been used by the Public Health Center.

Giant U. S. Seaplanes Land at Sausalito

SAUSALITO, June 26.—The three huge navy seaplanes, which arrived here yesterday at noon from San Diego, in seven and one-half hours' flying, which is considered record time for flying sea craft, are capable of carrying twenty persons each besides a full crew, it became known today. The planes are of a new type, the secret of which is known only to the American navy builders who constructed them. They are completely armed and are equipped with two Liberty motors each, totaling 900 horse power. The planes can operate for ten hours without coming down for gas. The details of the craft are not made public.

Infidelity Charged by Suit of Wife

Infidelity is charged against Walter Smith, a sheet metal worker employed at Mare Island, in a divorce suit filed today by Mrs. Nova L. Smith, who asks for $125 a month alimony and costs of suit. They were married in Martinez on July 10, 1915.

Key Route Traffic Requires 535 Cars

To handle the Eastbay traffic it takes a total of 435 passenger cars, and 535 cars altogether, including work cars, according to a report just made public by the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways. The total investment in rolling stock is estimated at $4,000,900.

Worker, Auto Victim, Asks $10,053 Damage

Declaring he was struck by an automobile driven by Allen Erland as he alighted from a street car at San Pablo avenue and Dwight way, Berkeley, on April 30, and that he is still unable to work at his trade as a structural iron worker, William Kuhn has filed suit for $10,053.

Fish Catch Fails to Equal Demand

The fish man who makes his weekly rounds of the neighborhoods on Fridays was yesterday more conspicuous by his absence than he would have been had he been on the job. Some of the fish venders started out early in the morning, but there wasn't near enough fish to go round. It was practically a "fishless" day.

There was less fish in San Francisco than in Oakland. Many dealers reported that instead of having on hand yesterday morning several thousand pounds, they had scarcely 1000 pounds to meet the demand of the day's business.

Dealers claim the cost of operating the fish nets is more than the price they receive for their catch.

Labor Votes Going to Friends, Says Gompers

SEATTLE, June 26.—"The political organization which gives proper recognition to labor's demands, may aspire to labor's votes," declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who was in Seattle last night en route to San Francisco to present the federation's platform before the Democratic national convention.

"Labor has sought to avoid politics but must now swing to the party giving attention to its grievances," Mr. Gompers said.

Tokyo Jails Students Upon 'Red' Map Sales

TOKYO, June 24.—Three more students have been arrested for complicity in the sale of war maps, for which a law student named Sekizawa and an alleged accomplice named Oyama were taken into custody yesterday. Copies of the maps are said to bear the publication of the Bolshevik.

The Waterfront

Conrad Dedlefsen, first mate on the motor schooner Oregon, was instantly killed yesterday when he fell into the hold of the vessel while at the dock. He was 48 years of age and resided with his family at East Oakland.

After being idle in East Oakland harbor for several weeks, the steam schooner [illegible] left today for a cargo of lumber. She will resume her old run between this port and Point Arena.

Another French craft has been chartered by Strauss & Co. to load barley at this port next [illegible] Bayard and is the eighth French craft to be slated to load grain here for Europe with this year's crop.

The whalers Port Saunders and Hawk are almost ready to sail on their first whaling cruise off Monterey. They are at the Barnes & Tibbetts shipyard being placed in condition, and will be ready for operation within ten days. They came here from the Atlantic coast about eight months ago, but have just been given an American register and now fly the Stars and Stripes.

The steam schooner Arctic, with 315,000 feet of lumber on board and towing the new hull of the tug Mae Hyman from Fort Bragg, arrived here today. The new hull is tied up at Alice street dock, where her engines will be installed. She will be used for towing when completed and used in the northern lumber ports.

The fishing launch B 60, which has been missing for several days and thought lost with her crew of four men, is reported safe at anchor in Drakes bay, where she went during the strong gale early in the week. As soon as the weather moderates she will proceed to the fishing grounds off the heads.

Owing to the strong northwest wind outside the heads, the steamer Bearport was compelled to return to port. She left here two days ago for Portland in ballast, after unloading a cargo of 3060 tons of scrap iron at Oakland.

The salmon at the head of Puget sound have begun to run and six hundred small craft, each having two men aboard, began trolling yesterday. The fishermen are mostly Indians from Neah bay, who fish in that locality yearly and send their salmon to one of the canneries on the sound, which are paying a very high price this season.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Custom House:
Captain C. B. Sorley, steamer D. G. Scofield.
Captain O. P. Rankin, steamer Idlewark.
Captain W. C. Morris, steamer West Norranus.

Note—In the above tabulation of tides, the daily tides are given in the order of their occurrence, commencing with the early morning tide in the left-hand column and the succeeding tides as they occur. On some days but three tides occur, the fourth tide occurring on the following morning.

200 LAUNCHMEN OF S. F. STRIKE; BOATS ARE IDLE

Almost every launch operting on San Francisco bay is idle today as the result of the walkout of 200 launchmen employed by six local launch companies on both sides of the bay. The walkout followed the refusal of the Bay and River Boatowners' association to grant the full demands presented by the Marine Diesel, Gas and Operating Engineers, No. 471, who asked for an eight-hour day with a dollar an hour for all Sundays and holidays.

The companies affected by the strike are the Crowley Launch and Tug Boat company, Petersen Launch and Tug Boat company, Wilder Launch company, Wallenrod Launch company, Rideout Launch company, Oakland Launch and Tug Boat company, and the George W. Freethy Launch company.

The launch companies have issued a statement to the effect that they will continue to operate with independent workers, while the launchmen are determined to stand pat.

Towing of barges and lighterage work will be tied up. Delegates and others who hope to visit the Pacific fleet will be disappointed unless the government provides transportation.

According to her family she had a comparatively large sum of money in her purse when she disappeared. The night before she had drawn her salary from the California Cotton Mills, where she was employed.

The police are still searching for Mrs. Toy Lin, 389 Sixth street, whose disappearance was reported by her husband this week. No trace of her has been found, according to the police, and her husband fears she has fallen into the clutches of a slaver gang.

Editor The TRIBUNE: Where is the state examination for teachers held? If held in Stockton, where? Where can I find books on this examination or a good place to be coached? What is the present salary for these teachers?—Old Subscriber.

(a) Teachers' examinations are held by counties and not by state. A certificate from one county is good for any place in the state providing it is unexpired. (b) University of California Extension Division. (c) There is no regular salary schedule. Different counties pay different salaries. Inquire at county school superintendent's office of your county.

Editor The TRIBUNE. Can you tell me what is the nationality of Mary Annett Van Arnim, the writer?

We are informed that she is of American parentage.

Editor The TRIBUNE: (a) What is "The American House of Commons," a building behind and just north of Dr. Herrick's residence on Lakeside boulevard? (b) What procedure must be followed to gain admittance to the county farm? I know an old lady who at present is in an old people's home, maintained by charity, and she is very unhappy there. How could she be put under the county's care? (c) What procedure must be followed if one wishes to put in cement curbing in front of one's house where an old wooden one has rotted out? Must one have a city official to indicate where it must be put, dictate width, depth, etc.? If so, who? (d) How are the number of votes or voting delegates at a national convention determined? (e) How did it happen that there were half votes in the balloting at the Chicago convention?—Subscriber.

(a) A musical and dramatic organization clubhouse. (b) Make application through the county social agent's office at the Hall of Records. (c) Make application at the assessor's office, ninth floor of the City Hall. You state specifications at time of making application. It is also necessary to furnish a $200 bond. (d) A state's delegates to a party convention are just twice the number of its representatives in Congress. California has eleven congressmen and two senators, and sent twenty-six delegates to the Republican convention. (e) Some states sent twice the number of delegates and gave each delegate half a vote. California, for example, could send fifty-two delegates, but she would still have but twenty-six votes.

Editor The TRIBUNE: What became of the men who started across the continent several years ago walking backward? Did they complete their journey?—An Interested Reader.

If you refer to the two men who, upon losing an election bet when William McKinley was elected, started to walk across the state, the information is available. They walked from Oakland to Hayward backward and there forfeited $100 each to quit the tiresome journey.

Editor The TRIBUNE: Is Senator Johnson's wife a Catholic or Protestant? What are the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth amendments to the constitution of the United States?—Old Subscriber.

(a) We are informed that Mrs. Johnson is a Protestant. (b) The fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth amendments contain the provisions of equal franchise rights, income tax authorization, and the election of United States senators by popular vote.

Editor The TRIBUNE: How should my niece who is a German citizen and now in Berlin, Germany, take steps to come to the United States? Can I help her in any way from this side? What is the fare from Germany to Oakland in marks? When she arrives in the United States what rate of exchange will she get for her German marks?—Subscriber.

(a) It would be necessary for her to obtain a passport from the German consul in Berlin, which would then have to be vised by the American consul there. This cannot be done, however, before the treaty of peace has been signed and the authorization for German citizens to enter the United States given. (b) There is little you could do from this side. (c) To come to New York, second-class steamer fare, with the additional railroad fare across the continent, would amount to nearly 10,000 marks. This estimate cannot be depended upon as the fluctuation of German money is changed almost daily. The estimate is based upon present quotations. (d) At present the [illegible] of exchange.

Editor The TRIBUNE: Is there a place in Oakland where a mother can leave her child to be cared for during working hours? Have heard of such a place, but I don't know where it is located.—MRS. R. F.

The Junior Red Cross conducts a nursery at the Clawson school, Thirty-second and Magnolia streets, near Emeryville. A charge of twenty-five cents per day is made per child.

J. F. K.—Questions sent to The TRIBUNE must contain the name and address of the questioner. See note at head of column.

J. D.—The TRIBUNE does not answer legal questions. See note at head of column.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Mrs. Annette Abbott Adams formally was sworn in before United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet today as special assistant United States attorney general, the ceremony being witnessed by Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, Mrs. Palmer, United States district judges and a large gathering of officials and citizens.

A few minutes after Mrs. Adams had been inducted into office, Frank M. Silva was sworn in as her successor, terminating his official status as federal prohibition enforcement officer for California.

Mrs. Palmer removed her corsage bouquet which she tendered to Mrs. Adams with a graceful expression of congratulation, to which Mrs. Adams responded.

"From what I have seen of Mrs. Adams," replied Judge Van Fleet, "she is perfectly able to take care of herself."

TRIO IS ROBBED IN BANDIT TOUR

Two women and a man were held up late last night by a pair of bandits, who obtained $40 in currency and silver and then made their escape in spite of the determined search instituted for them by police shotgun squads.

The first holdup occurred when Miss Anna McCloskey, 2219 Twelfth avenue, and Herman Hoeppner were stopped while walking near Athol and Wayne avenues by the muzzles of two guns pressed against their backs.

They had just passed a garage and the bandits stepped out of the shadow of the doorway as they passed.

The couple was able to get an excellent description of both men, one of whom is described as being tall, well dressed, and excessively polite, while the other was smaller and roughly dressed. Jewelry was taken from Miss McCloskey and silver and currency from Hoeppner.

A few minutes later, the police received the report of the second holdup perpetrated by the bandits.

Miss M. T. Ball, 491 Cottage street, while walking toward her home, was accosted by the pair, who pointed a gun at her and robbed her of $36.50. The holdup occurred at Waverly and Cottage streets.

Jury Trying O'Niell Out 16 Hours, 6 to 6

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., June 26.—Out sixteen hours, the jury deliberating the case of George O'Neill, charged with criminal syndicalism, today sent for the fifteen volumes of trial report and informed the court the last ballot stood six to six. The evidence in the case included testimony of officers and private citizens from all over California regarding alleged I. W. W. practices during the last year, which, it was said, caused the destruction of property valued at $50,000,000.

Fannie Hurst and Husband Ignoring Rule; Meet Daily

Miss Fanny Hurst, the noted fiction writer, and her husband, T. S. Danielson, are on a vacation, while Miss Hurst "covers" the Democratic convention. And, after the manner of married couples on vacation, the rules and regulations of their domestic menage are more or less overlooked. For instance, they are registered at the same hotel, the Palace, they are occupying the same apartments and they are actually having breakfast together every morning in the week.

Miss Hurst recently startled a large part of christendom by announcing that she was not only married but that she and her husband had arranged an unusual but thoroughly satisfactory program, to-wit: Each had a separate dwelling place and each a separate daily program. Twice a week she permitted Danielson to visit her at breakfast time, but this and all other like arrangements he had to take care to make in advance.

Now, however, they have come together to the convention and a lot of extra privileges are permitted the husband. It is even noted at the Palace that they have luncheons and dinners together as well as breakfasts—occasionally.

AUTO ACCIDENTS INJURE CHILDREN

Two children were hurt last night in street accidents, and in one case an automobile passed completely over the child's body. Both children will recover.

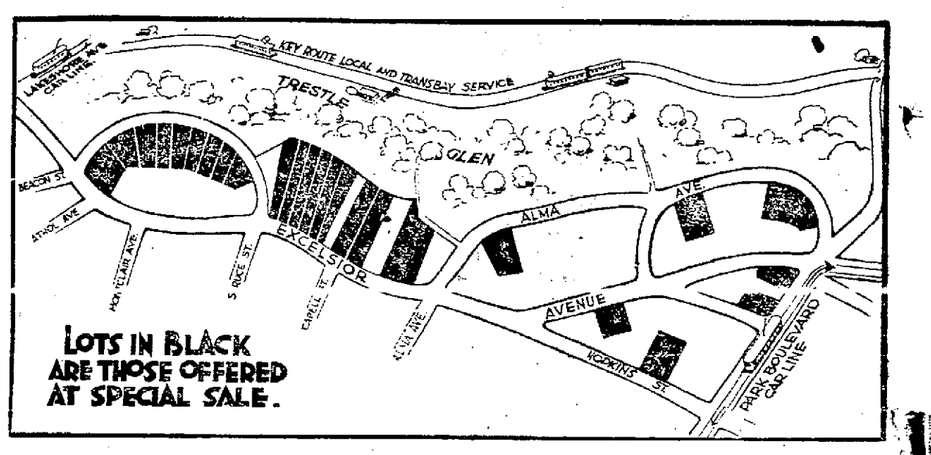

Richard Oliver, 11, 519 Twentieth street, while crossing the street at Nineteenth and San Pablo, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Dr. Robert Atherton, 1154½ Seventh street. The child was dragged under the machine and both wheels passed over his body.

The machine was stopped within a few feet and the boy was taken to his home by Dr. Atherton. He was not seriously hurt.

Mabel Pierson, 12, 638 Miranda street, was hurt last night when she was struck by a laundry wagon driven by R. W. Powell, 5345 Loc'sley avenue. The accident happened at Mills and Avon street. She was taken to her home by Powell.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Four persons were treated at the Central Emergency hospital last night for injuries received when an automobile in which they were riding capsized at Fell and Laguna streets. Clarence Ellison, 221 Shotwell street, the driver, said the accident occurred when he attempted to avoid another car while turning the corner. The injured are: Miss Grace Paul, 133 Geary street, cuts and bruises; Henry Dernbach, 33 Guerrero street, possible internal injuries and cuts and bruises; Mrs. Dernbach, lacerations about face and body; Ellison, cuts and bruises.
